Dysart pondering change in system of assessment

A significant taxation shift from residential property to vacant land will be the major result if Dysart et al council decides to adopt equalized assessment under Section 86 of The Assessment Act.

A study on the matter completed by the regional assessment office and presented to Dysart et al council at a meeting last Tuesday shows bulk land has been under assessed relative to other properties. It also indicates that many newer residences have been over-assessed relative to older residences, which will result in a tax saving for many owners of newer residences if the system is adopted.

Under the system, assessments are equalized within property classes by comparing total 1977 market values to total present assessment within the class. The comparison results in a factor that can be applied to all properties within a class in order to bring assessments into a fair relationship with each other. Total assessments do not change, however, and thus a municipality does not get an increase in its tax base.

Overall, about half of the residential property owners in the municipality will get a reduction in their taxes if the system is adopted for the 1981 taxation year, while the other half will find slight increases in their taxes.

But within a property class, some individuals could see significant increases in their taxes if they have been under-assessed and significant decreases if they have been over-assessed.

In Ward I, for example, 635 residential property owners would pay less under the new system, while 975 would pay more. The changes range from $123 less to $199 more, but on average, most taxpayers in Ward I would find an increase of about $20 in their taxes if council adopts the system.

Changes would also occur for commercial property owners in Ward I, ranging from a reduction of $643 for one property to an increase of $355 for another. On average, taxes on commercial properties in Ward I would decline by $14, according to the report.

Industrial land in Ward I has been over-assessed, according to the report.

Haliburton County Warden Malcolm McGillivray was honoured last Saturday night at a banquet in Wilberforce. In addition to compliments on his efforts from many area politicians, the outgoing warden was presented with a copy of "Heavy Horse Draw", a National Film Board short which features him and his team in action.

Eight school board trustees also uncontested

Six reeves, six deputies acclaimed as of Monday

More than two-thirds of the reeves, deputy-reeves and school board trustees in Haliburton County were acclaimed to office Monday following the close of the nomination period for the November 11, municipal election.

In a survey of Haliburton's nine municipalities and Galway-Cavendish to the south in Peterborough County, six reeves were acclaimed, six deputy-reeves went uncontested, eight school board trustees were returned and one council member was acclaimed.

This is a significant increase from the last municipal election in 1978 when only three reeves and the same number of deputy-reeves were returned to office uncontested.

In this year's election on Monday, November 10, the two top spots on Dysart et al council will not be contested. Reeve Murray Fearrey, a partner in Haliburton Lumber Ent., was acclaimed to office once again. His veteran deputy-reeve, Harold Bannion, who won his seat by more than 400 votes in the last election, was also acclaimed to office.

And another acclamation in the municipality means the voters in ward three, the West Guilford, Eagle Lake and Kensis Lake area, will not have to vote for any council members, since first time candidate Sid Cooper has picked up the seat on council uncontested. Former ward three councillor, Jack Denholm, who was also acclaimed in the last election, has stepped down from his position.

In ward one, comprised mostly of Haliburton village, a three-way contest for the seat may be underway. Veteran council member Roy Brohm who has served the municipality for many years acting as councillor, reeve and county warden will be running for the council seat once again. To contest Brohm, Pat Kennedy, of Kennedy Surplus, will undertake his first political campaign.

Kennedy is a past president of the Haliburton Kinsmen Club and involved in many of their activities. Another possible candidate for ward one is Bill Davis, a real estate salesman. Davis, who has also filed nomination papers for school board trustee had until four p.m. Tuesday to decline one of the positions. In the last election he ran unsuccessfully for the school board.

Engaging in the political battlefront in ward two, made up of most of Dudley and Harcourt townships as well as the rest of Dysart township not included in ward one, will be incumbent Gary McKnight and Tim Casey.

In 1978 Casey made a bid for the deputy-reeve's chair but was defeated by incumbent Bannion by more than 400 votes. Casey has never been a member of council although he has served on the Haliburton Highlands Chamber of Commerce board of directors.

This year, as usual, Dysart et al has four seats to fill on the board of education. Incumbents Len Salvatori, Earl Cooper, Nancy Stinson and Derrell Stamp will also be seeking their old jobs. Blanche Turner, who is in charge of women's program at Sir Sandford Fleming College in the village has put her name up before the public and Bill Davis, has also filed nomination papers for this position.

Politicians, officials seek support for tourism concerns

Grossman pressed on issues

The Province of Ontario no longer licenses trailer parks because to do so would be redundant, provincial industry and tourism Minister Larry Grossman told members of the Haliburton County Economic Development Commission and other municipal officials Friday night.

Answering questions following a dinner meeting sponsored by the Victoria Haliburton Progressive Conservative Association, Grossman said provincial licensing of trailer parks was his "classic definition of red tape."

Replying to EDC chairman Glen Hodgson, who said that in light of the ministry's support for the new accommodation grading system, "it does seem inconsistent" that the ministry no longer licenses trailer parks. Grossman said provincial licenses "were not adding anything" to the requirements already in force.

In order to get a license, an operator has to obtain a number of approvals from government agencies and municipalities. Grossman said, and asking an operator to pay $20 to have the province examine the approvals was simply red tape. "We were not, in essence, adding one thing to the process."

Municipalities have always had the power to deal with trailer parks, the minister said. "That power was there and they (the municipalities) were exercising it." He admitted, however, that there have been problems since the ministry dropped its licensing role "in that some municipalities are giving trailer park operators a rough time."

The minister's visit to Haliburton capped a day of meetings in Lindsay and Cobocok and gave local politicians and officials an opportunity to question him on a number of matters relating to tourism and the local economy.

Among the most encouraging news at the meeting was that the province is currently negotiating with federal officials for a DREE tourism agreement that would apply to the whole tourism sector rather than to

Non union staff at Home may get wage increases

Increases in the wages of non-union staff at Hyland Crest home are expected to be finalized next month at a meeting of the Hyland Crest committee of management.

Committee chairman Bob Vick confirmed Tuesday that the proposed increases had been discussed with the rest of county council at a committee-of-the-whole meeting following council's regular session last Wednesday.

The increases are intended to narrow the salary gap between non-union supervisory staff and the home's recently unionized nurses.

Increases of $3,206 and $3,554 respectively have already been granted to the home's administrator and its nursing supervisor to reflect the contract with the nurses union.

Reeve questions use of MLS listings

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey has questioned the use of MLS real estate listings by the Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers group for comparison of taxation among several county municipalities.

At a meeting of county council last Wednesday, Fearrey presented a copy of statistics which were handed out at a recent meeting of the fledgling group.

Hand written and photo copied, the document shows listings numbers, owners' names, asking prices and 1979 taxes for several properties in Snowdon, Stanhope, Lutterworth and Dysart et al. The heading over the Dysart properties notes that "listed or sold values" are included. Fearrey told council he questioned the use of the MLS listings by the group from two standpoints.

Firstly, he said, "the listing price has no relationship to real value for tax comparison purposes." And secondly, the Dysart reeve said "MLS listings are agreements between buyers and sellers" contractual in nature, "for the sole purpose of selling."

"I question that any permission has been granted for public use of these listings by the sellers (partners in a agreement) and by the Haliburton and District Real Estate Board (the parent body in this case)."

Fearrey said it could be argued that the information is public, "but not for this intended use." To protect everyone, he said "this information shouldn't be received by anyone on this basis" because to do so "will lead us to the wrong answer with the use of possible privileged information."

Tax and assessment information is available from registry, municipal and assessment office, Fearrey noted "and there is a proper method of comparing values."

He noted that information on selling prices could be obtained only through a report sent to real estate agents, which he said was confidential, or through paying a nominal fee to search the titles in the registry office.

He called on county council to confirm that the ratepayers group had obtained permission from the individuals and the real estate board to use the information, and to seek clarification from the provincial ministry of consumer and commercial relations "that this in fact is an improper use of MLS listings for the purpose of comparing assessment and taxation."

Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone reeve Fred Baum, a real estate agent, agreed with Fearrey's statements. "I have never seen this information made public," Baum commented.

Anson, Hindon and Minden reeve Sine Nesbitt was quick to point out that the ratepayers group was not acting with the support of council.

"Council did not have a member attend that meeting," Nesbitt said, adding: "I don't want to be held responsible for the actions of a group outside my jurisdiction."

J.O. Jackson, who is heading up the ratepayers group, declined to be quoted in an interview Tuesday, but maintained that there was nothing improper in the use of the MLS listings by the group.

He also maintained that the report sent to real estate agents listing sold values was not privileged information, but was available to any member of the public.

Following Fearrey's remarks, council passed a resolution asking the consumer and commercial relations ministry for more information on the matter.

Ratepayer's group formed, taxation will be key issue

by Sue Cooper

The Anson, Hindon and Minden ratepayers association, which is hoping to trim tax bills and cut the municipality's apportionments to the county and board of education, was formed last Thursday night.

J.O. Jackson, the main driving force behind the association, was elected president by the 21 area residents present. Vice-president is Morgan Loucks and Bernie Davis, secretary-treasurer with Archie Thompson, Cy Heal and Percy Drysdale acting as directors.

At the beginning of the meeting, Jackson recapped the discussion which had been held at an earlier meeting last month. He noted that he had been gathering information regarding taxation for the past one and a half to two years.

"It appears that we are paying more than our fair share in taxes," Jackson told the group.

The taxation rate in Anson, Hindon and Minden was equivalent to Lindsay, Peterborough and Whitby, Jackson said, a situation which he claimed is unfair.

In an effort to prove his point, Jackson circulated figures pertaining to the Board of Education and Haliburton County apportionments.

According to figures, Anson, Hindon and Minden is paying about three percentage points more to the board than it should be while Dysart et al is paying two percent less than it should be, Jackson said.

Improved communication is goal of Glamorgan group

Ratepayers in Glamorgan Township hope to improve communication with council after forming an association two weeks ago.

Dalyn Pickens Sr., the new chairman of the association, said Tuesday the idea for the association was born this summer when township residents became furious over council's hiring of a non-resident for a road superintendent's position.

The ensuing problems and confrontations with ratepayers were "rough on council," Pickens said.

Jackson said the three percent represented about $90,000 in relationship to the school board's budget.

"Dysart municipality is not being assessed on the same basis as we're assessed," Jackson told the meeting.

Jackson claimed that if one person owned a house in a municipality and another person owned a house of equal value in Anson, Hindon specific geographical areas of the province. Grossman also said, in reply to a question from commissioner Murray Fearrey, that the Ministry of Industry and Tourism is "very supportive" of the county's efforts to secure a DREE designation. "We thought we were going to get it in," he said, blaming the current federal government for dragging its heels on the matter.

Grossman was less encouraging in reply to a question from commissioner Sinc Nesbitt, who noted that the Chamber building on Highway 35 is "old, inadequate and beginning to look tacky," and asked if the ministry would consider a cost sharing program to assist in renovating or replacing the facility. Grossman responded that the ministry views tourism information centres as "very important" and has come up with a standard design building costing $500,000. Each of the province's 12 travel associations has been asked to recommend a site for a building which the ministry will install. A total of 30 self-service booths open 24 hours a day will also be built in various locations across the province, Grossman said. As yet, however, there is no provision for the kind of cost sharing agreement Nesbitt advocated, although the minister avoided rejecting the request flatly by saying the idea had not been ruled out. "I would hope that some of the local areas would find a way to put (better information facilities) together themselves," the minister said. The ministry is also reviewing the 12 travel associations in the province, "and out of that may come some change" in funding structure, Grossman said. Asked if the ministry has considered any way to ensure that areas like the Highlands have a chance to distribute their literature at or near the new Canada Wonderland park at Maple, Ontario, Grossman said only that "we're looking into it." Commissioner Murray Fearrey also pressed the minister on the question of including Haliburton under the Northern Ontario designation. "The question comes up frequently," Grossman replied. "A change certainly hasn't been ruled out." Chamber of Commerce manager Bob Stinson asked the minister if he would consider "bringing pressure to bear on the educational authorities" to advance March break by three or four weeks so tourism operators could sell winter packages, keeping some of the money in the provinces that is now spent on trips to Florida and other southern destinations. Grossman replied that he had discussed the matter with education minister Dr. Bette Stephenson recently, and that it is still being considered. But he questioned how much difference the change would make in the tourism deficit. Lutterworth deputy-reeve Glynne Lewis also took the opportunity to press the minister on a problem specific to his township. Despite the fact that a recent liquor plebiscite had been predominantly "wet", Lewis said, a motel operator in the township was still being denied a liquor license. Grossman noted the name of the LLBO official who denied the application and promised to look into it.

Dysart considers change

according to the report, and would decline by an average of $658.

Farm land has been slightly under-assessed and would pay an average of $29 more in taxes. In Ward 2, 2045 residential properties would see taxes reduced, while 1981 properties would be subject to an increase in taxes. The figures range from a decline of $424 to an increase of $352, but the average for the class is a decline of $4, the report shows, and the bulk of the increases are in the range of $20 to $60.

The 76 commercial properties in Ward 2 would face an average increase of $68, although four properties would pay as much as $624 less while one would pay $919 more.

There are some dramatic changes for industrial property in Ward 2. Of the 18 properties, all but four would have their taxes reduced, while two others would see their taxes rise by $5 and $79 respectively. The taxes on one of the 18 properties would increase by $6960 based on the 1980 mill rate however, and by $2000 on the other.

None of the properties included in the report is identified. Farm land in Ward 2 has been slightly under-assessed on the average and increases would average $20.

In Ward 3, some 1608 residential properties would see a reduction in taxes, while 2,342 would face increases averaging between $40 and $80.

Reductions and increases for the 51 commercial properties in Ward 3 balance each other, resulting in no average increase, although actual decreases and increases range from $770 to $451 respectively.

Some 25 of the 52 farm properties on Ward 3 would pay less under the new system, while increases average $25 to $50.

Council must decide by October 31 if it wants to adopt the new system for 1981.

If it does so, a public hearing will be held at which property owners will have an opportunity to appeal their equalized assessment.

Hunter as directors. The executive will be meeting in the near future to draw up a constitution, Pickens said.

"There's a lot of things to do yet, before we're off the ground."

Although the main issues the association will be concerned with have not been outlined as yet, Pickens said the group will try to inform the public about matters being discussed at council meetings since council minutes cannot always explain the entire situation.

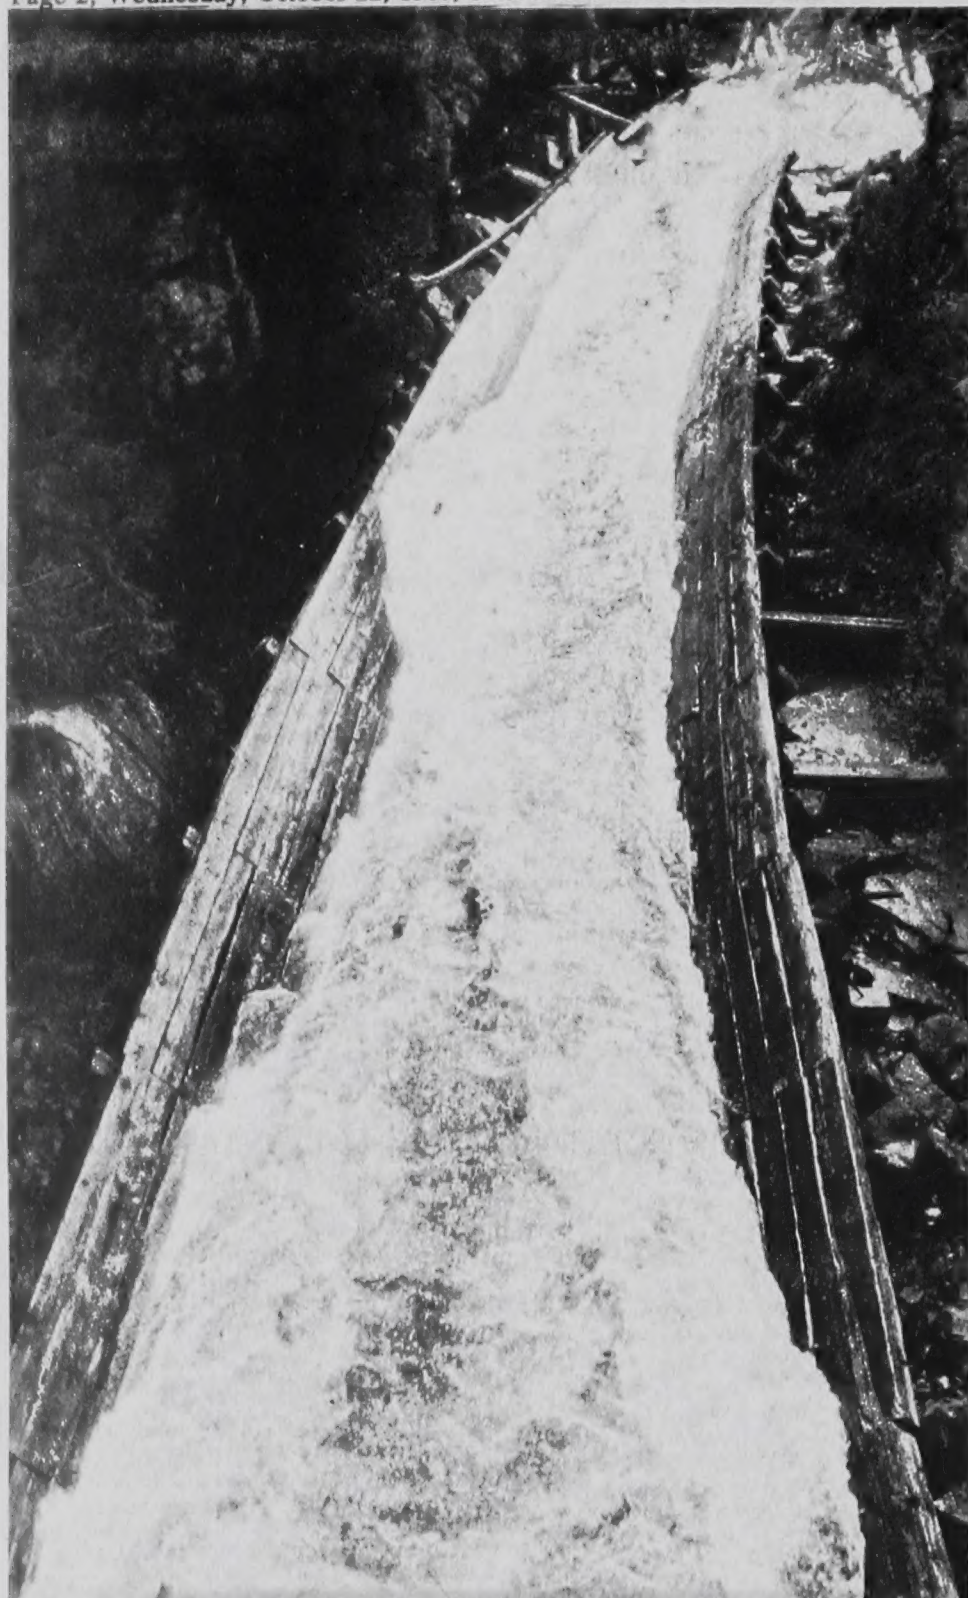

This would be just one of the ways the association hopes to open the lines of communication between the council and its ratepayers.

"We hope that council will perhaps consider the ratepayers association as someone to turn to, to get an opinion, occasionally," Pickens said.

Pickens said a good cross-section of the community was present at the meeting, including members from the area cottage associations.

"We hope that something will come of it and that it will be good for the municipality, not that they're there to bulldoze council or anything else. The idea is to try and get things running so that people will know a little bit about what's going on at council," Pickens explained.

The next few executive meetings will include drafting a constitution

The old log chute at Hawk Lake will be restored if Stanhope township is successful in its efforts to obtain a grant for the work. The chute is a historically important site in the township.

Stanhope to restore log chute

Stanhope Township has applied for a $30,000 grant which will help to completely restore the historic log chute at Hawk Lake.

The log chute which was partially restored in 1971 has been designated as a tourist attraction in the township. The chute was used in the logging days to transport logs into the Hawk River from Hawk Lake but has deteriorated in the years since then.

Stanhope clerk-treasurer Gerald Bain said the township has applied for assistance under the Canada Community Development Project to rebuild the chute. If the funds are granted the project would provide seven months of work for five people in the township.

Bain said the major part of the reconstruction will involve carpentry work.

The township is expecting to receive word on the grant by the end of November and if approval is granted, work will probably begin around the middle of December, Bain said.

However, if the approval is granted, township officials will have to consult the Trent Severn Waterways staff since the water levels will be critical for progress on the project as most of the construction will be carried out on the river bed.

Bain said the chute played a major part in the logging industry in the area and only two or three similar chutes were built in Ontario.

A box car donated to the Guild of Fine Arts by Canadian National Railways has finally reached its proper resting place beside the Rail's End Station Gallery. The box car had been stranded several hundred feet farther down the track until highway repaving was completed. The box car will be used for storage.

The new Anson, Hindon and Minden Ratepayers Association was formed by 21 residents last Thursday night. Sitting on the new executive are, left to right, director Percy Drysdale, director Cy Heal, vice president Morgan Loucks, director Archie Thompson and president J.O. Jackson, seated is secretary-treasurer Bernie Davis.

Minden ratepayers questioning taxes

and Minden, taxes should be roughly the same.

In fact, however, tax differences between municipalities depend on a number of factors, including the values of land and buildings in classes other than residential and the ratio between municipal expenditures and overall assessment.

During the discussion, market value assessment was touched on, but Jackson said it would probably never become a reality because other municipalities might not agree.

He explained the basics of market value assessment to the meeting with the aid of a blackboard.

The equalized assessment which the provincial government is now proposing would equalize assessment based on market values in individual property classes. However, this new system would not equalize assessment between different classes such as residential and industrial. The provincial assessment commission has said the system will not change a municipality's total assessment or its apportionment to the county or board of education.

In the past, Jackson told the meeting, the municipality had appealed the board of education's levy but had won an adjustment only once in the three times it had appeal-led. Jackson claimed the cases had failed because they had been ill-prepared.

On this note, Jackson urged the group to talk to their friends and neighbours and advise them to appeal their taxes next year.

"We'll put in 500 appeals on taxes," he said.

Jackson said he felt the organization could grow to 500 or a 1,000 members quickly. A membership fee of $1 is being requested.

Retain library system, county says

Haliburton County council has supported a resolution from Bruce County council opposing any realignment of regional libraries in the province.

Although no definite moves have been made to change the present system, there have been indications from the province that the Lake Ontario system, of which Haliburton County is a part, and the Georgian Bay system may be combined with other regions in a streamlining effort.

The possibility came to county council's attention through the Bruce County resolution, and in a letter read at council's meeting last Wednesday, county librarian Stanley McDougall urged support for the Bruce County position.

"We have to be a fairly large lobbying group," Jackson said.

Jackson said if the association was strong and all its members were involved, it would have a strong voice when dealing with local or county politicians and with the provincial assessment commission.

"If this group could grow, we could virtually decide who our council is going to be. It's not a nice thing to say,"

Jackson told the meeting. Jerry Heywood, a township resident who attended the meeting, suggested the association might become involved in other matters as well as taxation. Jackson agreed with this suggestion and also said the cottage associations would be welcome members of the group.

At the end of the meeting, most of the residents present paid their $1 registration fee.

McDougall said the present system, headquartered in Kingston, has served the county well. If a change were made, the new headquarters would be either in Ottawa or Brampton, he said.

McDougall said no good reason has been given for the proposed change.

He also noted that the county's association with other counties through the Lake Ontario system has allowed common problems to be solved and resulted in constantly improving library services.

Council passed a formal resolution calling for the existing regional library system to be retained.

Improvement Act, based on road expenditures made during the period of January 1, to September 30, 1980 in the amount of $114,399.21.

Council transferred the balance of estimated road expenditures for 1980, from

Battle shapes up for some positions

In the last race for the board seats, Salvatore topped the polls, followed by Cooper, Stinson and Stamp. After the election Salvatore was appointed to the position as chairman by the board.

ANSON, HINDON AND MINDEN

One of the most exciting political campaigns that will be taking place this time around will be in the townships of Anson, Hindon and Minden.

For the reeveship, incumbent Sinc Nesbitt will be challenged by Lloyd Walker. Nesbitt, who topped former reeve Reg Booth by more than 300 votes in the last election, is a veteran politician, having spent many years as reeve of Stanhope Township.

Walker, who has served as deputy reeve in Lutterworth Township, ran for reeve in that township in 1978 but was not elected. He has retired from Walker's Texaco on Highway 35.

The deputy-reeve's position was handed to incumbent Doug Pritchard when no contenders put their name forward. Pritchard was involved in a three-way race for the seat last time and won by only 24 votes.

In the race for council seats, five residents have put their names forward. They are incumbent Lyle McKnight, Leroy Lichty, Dean Elliott, Ed Pergolas and Larry Cummins.

McKnight is the only councillor to return to politics this election as veteran councillor Len Lonsberry declined for health reasons and one-term councillor Stu Brandon had to drop out of the race because of business responsibilities.

Lichty, who is running for the first time, owns the Brown Owl Restaurant on the Highway 35 by-pass. Elliott, another newcomer to the political scene, is a real estate salesman and justice of the peace. Pergolas, another new contender, is also a real estate salesman and a caterer.

And the final new politician is Cummins who operates Highlands T.V. on highway 35 near Twelve Mile Lake.

There will be no election held for the two school board trustee positions as Lloyd Johnson and Don Booth, both incumbents have been acclaimed.

STANHOPE

In Stanhope, two more county council members will remain the same as reeve Jim Harrison and deputy-reeve Elgin Stouffer were acclaimed.

ed to their township positions.

Last election, Harrison eliminated his only opponent by 50 votes while Elgin Stouffer was named the victor with 100 votes more than his competitor.

In the competition for council seats, incumbents Harry Davis and Elvin Johnson will be vying for their seats at the table. Councillor Roger Woods, who topped the polls in the last election, has withdrawn from the political arena because of business demands on his time.

Three newcomers have entered the race this election, including Ann Barker, housewife, Dale MacDonald, a garage owner, and Penny Gough, also a housewife. Davis has four years experience on council and Johnson has nine years under his belt.

There will also be no election for school board trustees as incumbents Dorothy Kinsman and Leroy Eager were acclaimed.

SNOWDON

In Snowdon Township voters will have a choice for reeve on their ballots. Once again making an attempt to take the reeveship away from veteran Bob Vick, Don Smedmore has filed his nomination papers for the position.

Smedmore ran against Vick in 1978 and lost the contest by more than 200 votes. Smedmore served for two years as deputy-reeve and two years as councillor before being defeated.

In the contest for deputy-reeve, incumbent John Francis will again put his name before the public after serving the community for four years. His only contender will be Ray Cox.

Fighting for council seats will be incumbent Dwayne Wruth and newcomers Fred Simmons, Burt Smith and Bryan Neville. Councillors Ron Burk and Dick Stewart have dropped out of the political scene.

Incumbent school trustee Ralph Young, who won his seat by more than 170 votes last election was acclaimed to office after eight years of service.

MONMOUTH

Two more top council officials in Monmouth Township were also acclaimed to their offices when nominations closed on Monday. Keith Tallman will return as reeve and Carman Coumbs as his deputy.

Four residents have put their names for a chance to sit on council in the municipality. Alan Reville, is the only incumbent to try for re-election. Mary Barker and Marg Finlay have withdrawn their names.

Other council contenders are regional Schofield, who is retired, Barry Dunford, an unsuccessful candidate in the 1978 election and Harry Clark who ran for deputy-reeve in 1978.

Contenders for the school board trustee position are Ross Anderson, a provincial assessor, and Jean Thomas, a resort owner and housewife.

GLAMORGAN

Another acclamation took place in Glamorgan as first time reeve candidate, Ken Maguire, was acclaimed to office. Maguire was elected as a councillor last election, moving into the deputy-reeve position after a resignation during the term. Veteran reeve Robert Fotheringham has stepped down from his position.

ran unsuccessfully for the deputy reeve position in 1978 and was defeated by over 100 votes.

In the deputy-reeve's position, incumbent Glynn Lewis has been acclaimed to office.

In the township's council competitions, incumbents Allan Stott, Bill Prentice and Bill Valentine have filed their nomination papers as has Floyd Pogue, an unsuccessful candidate in the last election.

The other acclamation in the township was incumbent Cheryl Murdock's nomination for school trustee.

CARDIFF

Another uncontested reeveship was taken by Malcolm McGillivray in Cardiff Township. McGillivray is a 13-year veteran and present Haliburton County Warden.

Incumbent Mack Peters will be challenged by Jerry Jordan who was an unsuccessful candidate in the council contest last time.

Vying for council seats will be incumbents William Hutton and Elmer Hughey.

political forum.

There is a possibility that Dalton (Mac) MacDonald, might be acclaimed to the position of deputy-reeve if he withdraws his name from the list of people interested in running for council.

If that is the case (he had until Tuesday at 4 p.m. to withdraw his name from one of the categories), the three councillors would also be acclaimed.

Hoping to attain a seat at the council table are Joyce McKey, a housewife with two years experience on council, Olga Cunningham, also a housewife with more than 13 years experience on council and Fran Gower, a registered nurse with four years council experience.

When nominations closed at 5 p.m. on Monday, no papers had been filed for the position of school trustee. That position will re-open for nominations for only one day, on Wednesday.

No trustee nominated for Dorset area

A two-way contest is underway for Maguire's vacant deputy-reeve seat as incumbent council member Robert McCausland, a plumber, and Cecil Moore Osborne, a retired non-resident, have filed their papers.

In the council competition, four people have put their name in front of the public. Glenn Graham, who was not elected last term but was appointed after a resignation, is again running for a council seat. Larry Hunter, who unsuccessfully ran against reeve Fotheringham last time and has previously served on council, is trying for a council position as are Jane Franklin, a non-resident, and Betty Barr, a housewife.

Julie Hunter, a housewife and bookkeeper was acclaimed to the school board trustee position.

LUTTERWORTH

In the most southernly township in the county, Lutterworth residents will have to make a choice who will represent them as reeve through the 1981-82 council year.

Reeve Ron Gambell, who was elected to the reeveship in 1978, is being challenged by Ingram Wessell. Wessell Councillor Ross Lawrence has withdrawn his name in this election.

New contenders are Paul Slight, John Irwin, Fritz Gillick, Clifford Rattle and David Hanna.

The school trustee who represents both Cardiff and the Improvement District of Bicroft, Victoria Agnew, was acclaimed.

SHERBORNE

McCLINTOCK AND LIVINGSTONE

Sherborne, McClintock and Livingstone residents will be watching an interesting reeveship campaign as incumbent Fred Baum is challenged by Marlene Shortreed. A newcomer to the the southern border of Haliburton County, also acclaimed its reeve, Carl Brickman, to his office. A contest is underway for deputy-reeve as council member Jean MacLellan and newcomer Gary Wetzel have filed their nomination papers.

Six residents have put their names into the running for council seats. They are incumbent Harry Stuart and Harry Platt, Henry Nokes who served for 1977 and 1978, and newcomers George Hodgson, Anne Stupansky and Wayne Windowver.

In the next few weeks, The Echo will be providing full election coverage.

Arrester failure causes outage

A defective lightning arrester on a main feeder line in the area of Connelly's Esso distributorship in Haliburton Village resulted in a partial power outage in the area Monday afternoon.

Larry Card, spokesman for Ontario Hydro's Minden office, said the arresters usually explode when they fail, causing a loud bang which people in the area report, but that Monday's blowout apparently went unnoticed.

The failure caused the line to shut down back to the main transformer station in the village, cutting off services to a number of residences and businesses.

Power was out for an hour and 10 minutes while a repair crew located the source of the trouble and completed repairs.

Tough new laws will deter trespassing.

How we're helping to protect you and your property.

For nearly 150 years Ontario has had a law making it an offence to enter property where entry is prohibited. But now new legislation—The Trespass to Property Act—has toughened up the law to protect your rights.

Trespassers can now be fined up to $1,000. In addition, they can be ordered to pay for damages they have caused.

An important part of the legislation designates premises where entry is prohibited without notice. These include your gardens, orchards, vineyards, land under cultivation, woodlots and fenced land.

Where notice must be given to prohibit entry, you may use red markings on gates, trees or fences. Yellow markings may be used to caution that only certain activities may be permissible. It is the responsibility of the visitor to find out what you permit.

LAND USED FOR RECREATION In the past, there was a great deal of confusion regarding your responsibility to people you allow on your land. Consequently many farmers and rural landholders would not allow recreational activities on their properties.

Now another new act—The Occupiers' Liability Act—reduces your responsibility. In a nutshell, the law assumes that those who take their recreation on most rural land without paying a fee will take care for their own safety.

A special system has been devised to allow you to easily indicate which activities you will allow on your property. A sign naming or graphically representing an activity (for example, hiking) indicates that the activity is permitted. The same kind of sign with an oblique stroke through it means that you prohibit the activity.

These new laws are part of a continuing program to streamline our legislation. By clarifying your rights, they afford you greater protection from trespass and also reduce your liability when you make land available for recreational purposes.

A fairer way

Within the next week, Dysart et al council must decide whether or not to adopt equalized assessment under Section 86 of the Assessment Act for the 1981 taxation year. The decision will be a tough one, coming as it does just days before the municipal election, but it is also inevitable. For although it will result in dramatic tax increases for some property owners, it is fairer to the majority.

Assessments have been frozen for more than 10 years while the provincial government considered ways to make them reflect market values. When studies indicated that full market value assessment would result in dramatic and politically unpopular tax shifts, the province backed off. Instead, it came up with a system for equalizing assessments within property classes without changing the overall assessment, a way of distributing taxes more equitably without shifting the burden dramatically from one class of property to another.

Under the system, total present assessment within a property class is compared to the 1977 market value for all properties within that class, and a factor is arrived at that can be applied equally. If residential properties in a township are currently assessed at $1 million but their 1977 market value is $10 million, the relationship would be one to ten. Individual properties would then be assessed for taxation purposes at 10 percent of their 1977 market value.

In practice, the new system should result in a fairer distribution of taxes for all concerned. Because of the variations in assessment that occurred when it was a municipal responsibility and the changes that have taken place since then, people who own recently built houses have generally had to pay more than their fair share of taxes while others, being under assessed, have paid less. If the municipality opts for equalized assessment, and it really has little choice but to do so, the inequities should be eliminated.

The fact remains, however, that some people will find substantial increases in their taxes next year. That is especially true for the owners of vacant land, who for decades have paid far less than they should have based on the real worth of their holdings. It is unlikely, though, that the new system will place a larger burden on those landowners than they can bear. And they should be able to find some consolation in the fact that they have long enjoyed a break on their taxes at the expense of others.

If there is fault to be found in the new system, it lies less in what it does or does not do for taxpayers than in the way it is being presented. Assessment is a provincial matter, and yet municipalities are being called on to decide whether or not they want to adopt the new scheme. That is clearly an attempt by the provincial government to dump a politically sensitive issue back into the laps of municipalities.

In effect, municipal councils are being used. Still, most of them will no doubt be prepared to take their lumps from a few irate taxpayers. The new system is, after all, fairer to all concerned.

Does anyone care?

With the close of nominations for the November 10 municipal election, it is clear that a large number of voters in Haliburton County are being deprived of the right to exercise their franchise. A total of six reeves, six deputy-reeves, eight school board trustees and one councillor have been returned for another term by acclamation.

In some cases these acclamations merely confirm what would no doubt have been voter preference. The majority of those who have not had to battle for their seats have performed well enough that voters are satisfied. But the fact that someone is acclaimed to a seat should not be taken as an indication that they deserve it. In fact, some of those who will sit on municipal councils and the school board for another two years should have been held up to public scrutiny through the election process.

The lack of candidates for office in this election may indicate no more than that things have gone smoothly in many of the county's municipalities over the past two years. But it could also indicate that the people of Haliburton County, preoccupied with other matters in their own lives, are losing interest in municipal politics. But it is only through publically elected bodies functioning at the local level that the local people's feelings about the community in which they live can be reflected.

A political system that lacked grass roots representation would be impersonal indeed. And yet if the present trend continues, the time may come when no one wants to stand for council or school board.

The 21 acclamations which were confirmed at the close of nominations Monday may simplify the election process, but they also threaten its very existence.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

To the Editor:

We have read the letter from Mr. George Hoo, addressed to Mr. John Eakins, published in the October 1, 1980, issue of your paper.

We are interested in the fact that an individual spends a few two week periods in our area and has gained sufficient information to be so knowledgeable of a situation which relates to hundreds of residents of the immediate and surrounding areas.

The involvement of Martin Lumber in the logging and lumber industry in this area has created work for many hundreds of persons. The work at the mill site and the logging sites is only one small phase of the employment picture. We must also take into consideration the suppliers of local services who would be hard pressed were it not for the needs of Martin Lumber for these services. The many log suppliers who depend on the company for a source of income are also affected. Yet, Mr. Hoo, after a few vacations here, calmly implies that the local residents can be reduced to unemployment in order to create a quiet environment for his visit.

Mr. Weymouth knew of the road situation when he bought Silver Springs, and the highway fleet of the company has not increased since that time. We are all aware that management has directed all drivers to use extreme caution when passing Silver Springs. However, the bottleneck which has been created here is a source of extreme danger to all who are forced to use the road. Many of us have children who ride on a school bus and it would seem that no thought is given to their safety in this situation.

Mr. Hoo also mentions the natural beauty and solitude for which a disregard has been shown. Why is a place of employment for local people more of an affront to natural beauty than the development of summer resorts, with their attending vehicles, outboard motors, etc.? Perhaps the man-made dam should not have been put in, which created Elephant Lake, and to have left it in its original state as an almost dry swamp, so the natural condition could have been maintained. Too often persons visit a rural area and immediately attempt to set up guidelines with a total disregard for the livelihood and safety of the persons whose ancestors pioneered the area.

The employees sincerely regret that Mr. Hoo does not feel he can enjoy another two weeks here; however, we must point out that the hardship would be much greater for a greater number of persons if we were deprived of employment for twelve months of the year.

Yours truly,

The Office Staff of

To the Editor:

It would be nice if we could turn the page and start utilizing our forests in a controlled way, as suggested in your editorial, but because of various factors this is not yet possible.

The fault, if there is one, does not lie with the Ministry of Natural Resources, as you seem to imply, but rather with the freedom of choice, which a democratic society accords its citizens. The Ministry offers excellent long-term programs in which some woodlot owners and industries participate. (Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber among them). This year, the woodland improvement program was increased by 2,750 acres in Haliburton County alone. It is free of charge to woodlot owners in Ontario.

In order to improve the quantity and quality of wood, certain restrictions are necessary. On the other hand, there is no tree cutting by-law in the county, which allows the individual a choice, to adopt the government program which imposes short-term gain for long-term gain through selective thinning and cutting or to use the usual, wasteful method of logging by stripping the woodland bare without planned reforestation. Easier and more profitable in the short run, but because of poor quality regrowth, disastrous for the future of the forest. It is easy to guess which approach is more popular!

We have received some complaints recently from visitors coming into Haliburton and having problems locating the historic "Harburn Wells". Direction signs have been posted along the route from Haliburton the Wells but apparently some people are still getting lost and having problems locating them. A lady from another Ontario centre was in the office the other day and she told us that she wanted to see the Harburn Wells in the worst way but on her way she found to her amazement that most of the signs pointing in the direction of these interesting Wells had been torn down. Let's hope that this problem will be rectified in the very near future. The Harburn Wells are well worth seeing and it's just another project of the Kinsmen Club of Haliburton. Make it a date now if you have never seen them.

The World Series in baseball certainly had its share of thrilling moments but how will we ever forget the series previous to this when the Philadelphia Phillies and the Houston Astros went to the limit to five games before the Phillies finally won out. In my opinion, there will never be another series like that one as it had everything. We saw some very thrilling baseball on many occasions, many close plays on the bases and at home plate, errors by both sides that were too numerous to mention, top notch pitching and hitting, protests from both teams, balls dropped in the outfield and what have you. There was certainly something there for everyone. You didn't have to be a baseball fan to enjoy that series as there seemed to be a thrill every moment and one could hardly anticipate what was going to happen in the inning coming up. I never watched a series when the lead changed so much from one team to the other and in one game when Houston held a 5-2 lead at one point that looked to be plenty to walk off with the game, along comes the Phils in the next inning scoring four runs to take the lead 6-5. That's the kind of a series it was and one that sportscasters and baseball writers will be talking about for some time to come.

Following the Thanksgiving weekend I made my annual tour to Skyline Park on top of the mountain in Haliburton. Although I have seen the view from here many times before something always seems to take me back for a view of the village and to glance at the beautiful countryside in all its colour and beauty. While travelling around the Highlands this past two or three weeks we have to agree with a great majority of the people whom we have been talking with when they tell us that the leaves had more colour this year than in the past couple of years.

Our congratulations to Ross Anderson of Tory Hill who was a recipient of fifty bulbs from the people of Holland. This was a thank you for being one of the 16,000 Canadian troops who were responsible for the liberation of Holland. A covering letter of thanks from a family was also sent along with a charter. It is a nice thought that the Netherlands are showing their thanks for their freedom.

The CNR box car which has been sitting on the tracks near the first crossing in Haliburton for the past two months has been moved up and is now located in front of the Rails' End Gallery.

It seems that they have a wonderful sports programme at the Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. They have a tremendous football team, a good soccer team and they have some real good stars in track and field. Gary Broham, the head of physical education at the school plays a big part in the sports scene and recently he delivered a thought provoking talk on "recognition and goal setting" at the Thursday night meeting of the Rotary Club of Haliburton. He also spoke on the subject of the merits of these coaching attitudes in amateur sport.

Emil Neimann who is president of the Senior Citizens Club in Haliburton which meets at the auditorium at the arena in Haliburton every Thursday afternoon tells me that he keeps very busy and that every week day with the exception of Thursdays when he is in Haliburton he is attending another senior citizens meeting in various parts of the county. Emil is also a very active member in the Orange Lodge at Haliburton.

It has been brought to my attention that possibly the speed limit should be lowered on the stretch of highway just outside of Haliburton from, let's say, the Driftwood Restaurant to Haliburton Marine. The next time that you are driving down that way notice the many entrances that lead into business places on this section of highway. There are a great many cars and trucks coming out of these driveways during a working day.

The Highland Squash Club held their 2nd annual Fun Car Rally "Krazy Kilometres" on Saturday. This is always a fun day for all those who participate.

In conversation with Haliburton Curling Club president John Beachli and vice president Don Poppel they informed me that there is some activity at the curling rink and that the ice should be in by November 1, and that curling should begin at this time. The new manager at the curling rink this year is Bob Johnston.

Mrs. Boyd Austin called to tell us that she has an Easter Lily blooming. It's either too early or too late for Easter!

The east nursing tower of Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay was dedicated last week in memory of Miss Ethel Reid, who served as superintendent of the hospital from 1921 to 1948. Greetings were brought from Mayor Jim Flynn and Victoria County Warden, George Neals and Doris Wilson (Schofield R.N.). Miss Reid was well-known in Haliburton County.

Report from Queen's Park

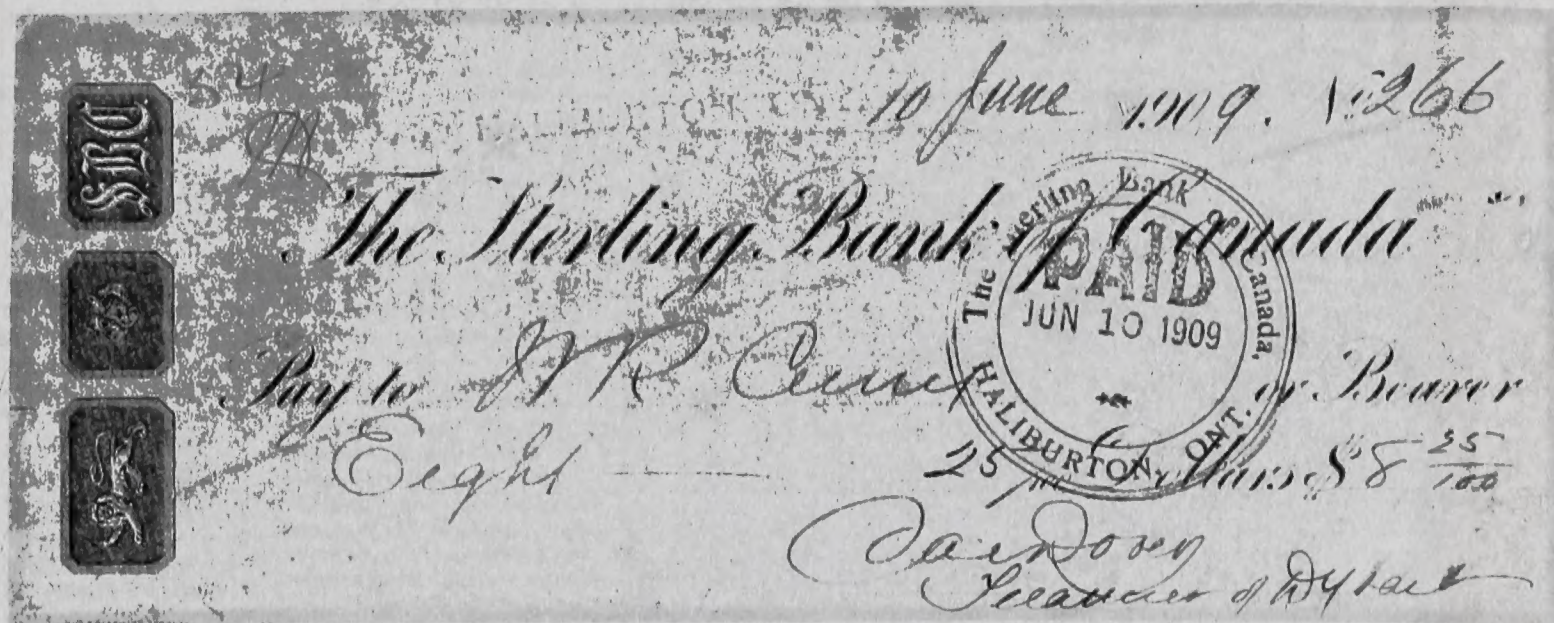

by MPP John Eakins

The Minister of Labour has announced a five point program to help workers laid off in plant shutdowns. However, this has been denounced as inadequate by the labour movement and by Opposition Leaders. The plan calls for the following: (a) a change in pension laws to permit some measure of portability and make it possible for some laid-off workers to get pensions before age 65 (under present legislation a worker over 45 and with ten years service must wait until age 65 for a pension if laid off in a shutdown); (b) a legislative committee study of the question of making payment of severance mandatory for employers; (c) amendment of the Employment Standards Act to ensure that workers given pay in lieu of a mandatory notice period get fringe benefits (such as pensions) to the end of the notice period as well; (d) companies to be forced to participate in and pay for a manpower adjustment committee to help ousted workers find new jobs; and (e) a new government office to be created to

Our thanks to Ronald Curry of Haliburton for supplying us with the following information of the Sterling Bank of Canada which was the first Bank in Haliburton. Ron didn't have a photo of the bank, but in its place, he sent along this Sterling Bank of Canada cheque. Sterling Bank of Canada was in operation for about three years. This is a photo of a cheque dated June 10, 1909 signed by Fred Dover, Treasurer of Dysart et al and payable to W.R. Curry. The bank was located on the north east corner of Highland street and Maple Avenue, the present location of the Black's Hardware store.

Haliburton did not have a bank for the next nine years until the Haliburton branch of the Bank of Montreal was established in the same building on March 24, 1919. F.A. Hiscock was the first manager of the branch in Haliburton. Several years later the bank moved to the lot on which the I.G.A. is now located and in January 1947 moved to the north side of Highland street into a new building constructed by W.R. Freeman. On August 31, 1962 the manager of the bank, Eric McConnell, was shot twice and died while sitting at his desk.

C.O.T.A. Chooses New Executive

The Central Ontario Travel Association met last week at Sir Sam's Inn in an all-day planning session which included the selection of a new executive from their newly elected board of directors. Bill Smith, proprietor of Elephant Lake Lodge in Harcourt was elected as president for a one-year term. Other members of the board this year include Bob Stinson and Barbara Bolin from Haliburton, Ross Wiegand, manager of Kawartha Tourist Association, Stu McIntosh, tourism instructor at Sir Sandford, Peter Elmhirst of Elmhirst Resort in Keene, Bud Tress, director of Great Pine Ridge Tourist Association, Paul Boyd, reeve of Ameliasburg, Martha-Anne Rankin, manager of Parkwood Estate in Oshawa, Mike McDonald of York Simcoe, Stephen Abrams, promotional manager of Canada Wonderland, Bev Skidmore, proprietor of County Book and Craft in Picton, John Sibbald, president of the Briars on Lake Simcoe, Harvey Brydon, Highlands of Hastings, Ken Wilcox, owner of Sword Motel in Bancroft, John Shannon, president of Greenwood Tower Flagg Inn in Port Hope, John West of Quinette Isle Tourist Association and Don Williams, president of Wondlyn Inn in Trenton.

The new president was pleased with the positive input at the first meeting of their new board and sees C.O.T.A. taking some new directions as a result. An indication of this was the decision to look at new ways to sell this travel region rather than the traditional "Lure Book" that listed areas and members and tended to duplicate the efforts of many of the existing organizations such as our own. A committee was struck to report back to the executive within a month with proposals on a newly structured promotional campaign.

The Ministry of Industry and Tourism is presently having a study completed on the whole Travel Association program and the consultants are inquiring from various individuals about their reaction to it. Based on past performance much of the response may be negative, but we must say that the new board has shown determination to turn this around. The ministry is committed to the program and it is up to us to see that it works to our benefit.

Minister Says Help On The Way

The Honourable Larry Grossman, Minister of Industry and Tourism, visited us last week and among other things told us that the ministry is presently negotiating a Tourism D.R.E.E. agreement that will assist those involved in that sector regardless of where they were situated. He also announced that an information centre would open in the concourse of the Eaton Centre next month which should be of considerable assistance to all of us. He was not as encouraging when asked by Sinc Nesbitt if funding assistance might be available to upgrade the Chamber's information centre. It was pointed out that our centre is one of the few non-government centres to continue operation on a year-round basis and that we distribute travel information of a provincial as well as a local nature. The building is becoming painfully inadequate and some means of providing better facilities will have to be found.

The ministry is presently spending funds to refurbish their own centres and has asked the Travel Associations for suggestions on where new ministry centres should be established. Our office was one of the most heavily visited over the past summer, but would not fit the criteria of serving the balance of Central Ontario so we cannot expect any assistance from that direction.

New and Progressing

The 3M Company provided us with a few stickers that read, "We hear there is going to be a recession -- but we've decided not to participate." We think that's a good motto for Haliburton County and from the looks of some of the development taking place it may be quite appropriate.

We were honoured last week to be asked to take part in the opening of the new plant of the Bill Smiley

"What's all this here bull-roar about repatriating the Canadian Constitution?" demanded the rather belligerent chap at the next barstool.

Somewhat timidly, I replied (I don't like bar-room brawls unless somebody else is in them), "I think the word is Constitution, not Constipation." And in a little attempt to ease the tension, added, "We have enough of that now," not meaning constitution. He didn't get it.

He snorted, "Constitution? I'm in great shape," giving his beer-belly a smack and hawking up a few gobs after inhaling deeply on his White Owl cigar.

Well, I was getting a bit nettled. I'm not a trouble-maker or a flag-waver, but I'm a good Canadian. I didn't have to listen to this beery bore.

I began quietly enough. "The word is not repatriation, but patriation. The suffix 're' means 'back', as in 'return'. If we repatriated the constitution, it would mean that we were bringing it back to Canada, but it has never been here in the first place. So we use the word 'patriation', meaning 'up'..."

He was not impressed by my quite lucid explanation, nor my obvious education.

"Patriation, that's the stuff. There's too many of these rotten, long-haired punks in this country, who wouldn't fight for it if they hadda."

I rolled my eyes, figuratively, and asked the inevitable, happy enough to change the subject, "What outfit were you with in World War II?" I knew that's what he was leading up to.

"Outfit? Outfit?" and he laughed a deep gargle, belching rumble. "I was in Intelligence. I was intelligent enough to get a job in the shipyards and make a bundle."

I was more than nettled by now. I was more like poison ivy. I almost snapped, "Good for you! You were making a bundle while the enemy was firing shells and mortars and machine-guns at your old school friends!"

"What old school friends? You mean them jerks that went on to high school and volunteered to go and get themselves shot in some foreign country. They were no friends of mine. They were suckers."

Seeinging, I tried another tack, unable to believe this was a fellow-Canadian, but willing to give him a third chance.

I took three deep breaths, then explained calmly, "A constitution is the backbone of a democratic country. It sets out the rights and obligations of its citizens. Aren't you interested in that? Would you like to live in a country where you had no rights?" I thought that might stir some smoldering spark of love of country.

But he wasn't so dumb. He was crafty, in fact.

"Why should I? I live in this country, where I got a right to vote for any dummy I want to, write a letter to the newspaper saying what I think of the government, belly up to the bar on Friday night, and call in sick Monday. What more do you want?"

I retorted with some asperity, "And what about obligations? Don't you think a good citizen has obligations. The word means things that you should do."

His reply: "Then I'm a hell of a good citizen. I got more obligations than I can handle: nine kids, a crabby wife, a boss who has a slight stroke every time I ask for a raise, and the government trying to grab one out of every three bucks I make. And I come in here for a quiet drink and I gotta talk to turkeys like you about constipation. Don't talk to me about obligations."

Desperately, I tried another tack. There must be some decent thing in this man, a fellow Canadian.

"But surely there are some things you'd like to see done in black and white, something solid and dependable, in a truly Canadian constitution, something you could fall back on?"

"I nearly always fall back on the bed. But you're right. There's a few things that should be wrote into something, even though the lawyers would always find a way around them."

"What did you have in mind?" I asked eagerly. There was a spark! He was not a total ash.

"Well, I gotta few things that might help out Trudeau and them other peacocks and barnyard geese that make up our leaders. First, there's that there Women's Lib. I'd stamp them out, with hobnails. Then there's that there French. If God had wanted a man to speak French, he woulda had him born in France or Quebec, right?"

"Go on," I said grimly.

"Well, there's the pill, right? That's O.K. But the constitution should have it somewhere that a woman can't speak while her husband is drinkin' his coffee and tryna read the paper. They could call it a gob-stopper."

"And it should be in there that welders get paid more than teachers. And that old people should live in classy homes, like hotels instead of them dumps. Right?"

"And dope peddlers should be strangled. And people should be buried decent, wrapped in a blanket, instead two thousand bucks wortha junk. And..."

But it was too much for me. I hurriedly slapped down my usual 20 cent tip and fled.

Not before he got his last word in. "Take it easy, Constipation."

Old age pension to rise

Increases in the Old Age Security pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, effective in October 1980, have been announced by the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Monique Bégin.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise to $196.83 from the present $191.28.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will increase to $197.60 from its current $192.03. Added to the basic pension, this gives a person receiving both the OAS and the maximum GIS a monthly total of $394.43.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $152.36 each from $148.07. Added to the basic pension this will give each married pensioner receiving the maximum GIS a total of $349.19, or $698.38 for the couple.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to income.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $349.19 from $339.35. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum GIS at the married rate and is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to OAS pensioners and meet residence requirements. Entitlement to a Spouse's Allowance, and the amount paid, is based on yearly income.

Where the pensioner spouse dies the surviving spouse may be eligible for the continuation of the allowance to age 65 or remarriage if that person has no income or a limited amount of income.

Increases in Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments are calculated quarterly based on the cost of living.

Report from Parliament

by MP Bill Scott

The federal government has launched an eleven-million-dollar advertising campaign designed to convince Canadians that our country is not faced with an energy crisis, either now or in the foreseeable future.

This information was contained in a confidential document circulated by the government's Energy Communications Division, and leaked to one of the news wire services.

Although its real purpose was only revealed recently, the campaign has been underway since July, and it raises some serious questions about the government's honesty and propriety in dealing with a critical national problem.

In the first place, the government is using millions of dollars in public funds, without obtaining the approval of Parliament, to try to cover up its failure to formulate a comprehensive national energy policy.

There is clear evidence in the document that the government has set out to deliberately mislead and deceive the Canadian people by suggesting that Canada's 'energy crisis' was invented by the Opposition in the House of Commons, and by detractors in the media.

In the second place, there is evidence in the same document that there is in fact an energy crisis, and that the current Iraq/Iran war is likely to make the situation worse as the war drags on.

The government is lulling Canadians into believing that the shut-off of oil supplies from Iraq and Iran is being made up by increases in oil production by Saudi Arabia. The Saudi's announced that they have increased oil production by three million barrels per day to help make up for the shortage created by the Iran/Iraq war.

However, it would be a serious mistake to look upon this as the answer to the world energy crisis, or a substitute for a national energy policy.

While Saudi Arabia's oil minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani is the most moderate of all the Arab oil ministers, he is also the most astute, and he has already warned Canada, and other oil-importing nations, that our failure to develop a national energy policy could lead to disaster.

Sheikh Yamani said that he has no intention of depleting Saudi Arabia's oil supplies to satisfy our greed, and has threatened to cut production and raise prices to impress us with the seriousness of the situation.

probe the reasons for plant closings and to develop an interministerial response to help communities affected by the shutdown.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith strongly criticized the plan as being inadequate. The NDP Leader was also critical, but said he's support it. The president of the Ontario Federation of Labour stated that the plan "hasn't responded seriously to the main questions we've been raising... We're not just talking about people on the verge of early retirement. When a company goes belly-up, every worker should be able to take his pension credits with him to the next job."

Government advertising

Members of my caucus, concerned about a perceived dramatic increase in advertising for pre-election purposes, have tabled questions to 25 ministers about how much is being spent on the ads, some of which they consider to be misleading and partisan, while others contain subliminal messages. We want to know the total advertising budgets this year and last, and which agencies are employed. Copies of radio and TV scripts and printed materials used in various publicity campaigns are also requested. The decision to make a concerted effort to get complete information on advertising, thought to total about $25 million this year, was made at a recent caucus meeting.

Children's Aid Societies

It was revealed this week that the staff of Children's Aid Societies from Sudbury to Peel Region are struggling with administrative problems which threaten their service to children. Teams of independent consultants, society workers and provincial government officials set out to investigate Ontario's 51 societies, and have already subjected nine of the agencies to intense scrutiny in the past two years - and sharp criticism, especially in the areas of planning, staff development and record-keeping.

Six other studies, including one of Metro agencies, are underway and it is anticipated that the review will be completed by 1985.

Redmen lose playoff spot in tough game at Brock

Haliburton high school's Redmen football team saw their season come to an end last week after an I.E. Weldon protest of an earlier Redmen win was allowed, reducing the victory to a tie, and the team lost a "must win" game against Brock.

Last Tuesday the Redmen were at home against Fenelon and ended up with a relatively easy victory.

In the first quarter, Ron Yake's field goal put the Redmen ahead but Fenelon countered with a three pointer before the quarter ended.

In the second quarter, running back Ted Pilcher went in for a major on a quick pitch to put the Redmen ahead. The convert attempt was missed and the score stood at 9-3 at the half.

In the third quarter, Fenelon Falls came up with a single point, while Haliburton was held scoreless.

In the fourth quarter, Ted Pilcher once again came through for the Redmen, this time on a 75-yard run. The convert was good and the score stood at 16-4 in favour of the Redmen.

Late in the quarter Haliburton conceded a single point to round out the scoring.

The game was a strong one for the Redmen as the offence moved the ball well and the defence came up with nine turnovers.

In the junior game, Scott Mitchell scored a major and Jeff Whitfield kicked two singles to give Haliburton an 8-8 tie.

Wednesday, Kawartha West league officials ruled in favour of I.E. Weldon's protest of an earlier game that had been awarded to Haliburton after a confusing final play and penalty.

Weldon had sought to meet Haliburton to replay the final down, but when coach Gary Brohman refused, league officials ruled each team would be awarded a single point for a tie.

The ruling set the stage for Friday's game against Brock, a game the Redmen had to win if they hoped to make the playoffs.

Haliburton opened the scoring with a single off the toe of Ron Yake, and later in the half, a Brock player was tackled in his own endzone to give the Redmen a 3-0 advantage at the half.

On the opening kickoff of the second half, Haliburton was called for a face mask infraction and Brock got the ball on the Redmen 45 yard line. The defence held them to a single first down, and forced a punt on the next series, but the Redmen fumbled on their own one yard line and Brock recovered, setting the stage for a major on the next play and a successful two-point conversion.

Haliburton was forced to punt on their next series, but the defence held Brock for little gain. Jamie Rogers burst through to block the Brock punt, but sprained his ankle on the play and had to be taken to hospital. With Rogers out of the game the Redmen lost much of their offensive punch and failed to score for the rest of the quarter.

The Redmen's best chance came in the fourth quarter when they just missed completing a pass to a man wide open in the endzone. The play represented a turning point in the game as Brock dominated in the final minutes of play.

Final score was Brock 8, Haliburton 4.

In the junior game at Brock, the Redmen went down to defeat 14-0.

In the six game season, the Redmen defeated Brock and Fenelon, tied I.E. Weldon on the protest, and lost to Fenelon, Lindsay and Brock.

Dave Chatfield, one of the organizers of the car rally, checked the odometers before any cars left the parking lot on Saturday.

Millars win Krazy Kilometre rally

by Dave Chatfield

Fun was the order of the day as the Highlands Squash Club held its second annual Krazy Kilometers Car Rally last Saturday.

Eighteen entrants began the 100-mile course in Haliburton to compete for over $400 in trophies and prizes.

By following clues and answering questions the entrants all made it to the mystery destination in an average of 4½ hours. Also included in the rally was a scavenger hunt and a tricky trivia questionnaire. While most people were able to collect a wild apple, a 10 lb. rock and a 1 cent stamp they had more difficulty guessing Bob Hope's shoe size of 13 and that flying a kite for one hour burns up 30 calories.

Competition was so keen that when meeting another car at a cemetery stop on person apparently hid the keys of another car; another competitor lost his 10 lb. rock after stopping to have it weighed while seeing another car quickly leave the parking lot.

Based on mileage rather than speed the entrants were driving all types of vehicles and had a real mental rather than mechanical workout.

After a few hours break following the finish, competitors and friends gathered at the Squash Club for presentations and a dance. When all the results were tabulated the winners were Alex and Bev Millar. Second place went to John and Kathy Stouffer and their four children, while Sheila Elston and Lyn Somerville finished third for the second time. All in all, everyone had a great time and hopefully there will be more entrants next year. The Squash Club would like to thank all the sponsors for their generous donations and all the competitors for their keenness and effort. The sponsors were Seagrams Distilleries, CKCO-TV, Sir Sam's Inn, Michael and Susan Butt, Curry Motors, Mr. Fogg's, PineStone Inn, Coneybear Motors, Elstone Motors, Stan's Texaco, Walker's Texaco, McGuire Tire, Medley's Pizza, Victoria Sports, Black's Hardware, Western Tire, Stedman's and Metro Carnarvon. Also, a special thank you to the Rockcliffe Hotel who supplied an area for the mystery destination.

Bowler's score over 200 in last week's play

Scoring over 200 in Wednesday afternoon bowling this week were: Harry Henderson, 224; Gordon Bennett, 219 - 205 - 206; Bill Barber, 237; Ev Stata, 231; Frieda Handy, 218; Lynda Morrison, 230 - 218; Betty Bennett, 220; Joan McKay, 205, and Mary L. Bird, 204 - 225.

High triples in Thursday ladies bowling action last week went to Eva Piper, 223, 184, 209 for a 616 total, and Freida Handy, 139, 236, 225 for a 600 total.

Those with games over 200 included Alberta Maitland, 229, Bernice Gillis, 210, Kay Barry, 205, Ann Baker, 281, Joyce Pennick, 233, Iris Taylor, 211, Pearl Durant, 200, and Mary Colman, 212.

Huskies record stands at two wins and four losses

The Haliburton Huskies have now met six of the seven teams who share their division, and after winning one and dropping two this week, their record stands at two wins and four losses.

Wednesday the Huskies travelled to Oro and it proved to be a tough night for goaltender Craig Wood, as the Huskies defense allowed him to be peppered by a total of 49 shots.

In the first period, neither team could find the mark, although Oro drilled 16 shots at Wood while the Huskies managed to put only four shots on target.

Oro opened the scoring at 6:20 of the second period and wins against

I.E. Weldon

Haliburton high school's soccer team wound up their best season ever last week with a 3-1 win against I.E. Weldon.

Scoring for Haliburton were Bernie Upton, Andrew Shapiera and Scott Rae.

In spite of the win, the team missed a spot in the playoffs by a single point.

moved ahead 2-0 at 8:03. The Huskies rallied to narrow the gap on a power play at 8:40, however, as Mike Rae got the goal, assisted by Don Manary.

Oro continued to outshoot the Huskies through the rest of the period, but Haliburton was able to capitalize on Oro penalties in the last minute of play, as Ron Yake found the mark at 19:03, assisted by Mike Rae and Shawn Chapman. Chapman moved the Huskies ahead 3-2 at 19:23, assisted by Dave Nichols and Yake.

It was all the Huskies could get that night, however, as the third period scoring belonged to Oro.

Just 59 seconds into the third period, Oro tied the score on a shorthanded goal. At 10:17, with Dave Nichols sitting out a hooking call, Oro capitalized on the power play to make it 4-3. The insurance marker came at 19:32 to give Oro a 5-3 advantage.

Friday the Huskies travelled to Gravenhurst, and missing Chris Hodgson, Andy Salvatori, Ed Roberts, Mike Scheffee and Mark Bowman, they were unable to muster longed to Gravenhurst as they tallied at 12 seconds, 2:28 and 7:14.

The final score was Gravenhurst 8, Huskies 0.

Sunday the Huskies were at home against Penetang for a game that proved to be crowd-pleaser.

Penetang got off the mark quickly in the opening period, scoring at 1:22 while Mark Bowman was sitting out a high sticking call. At 4:13 they stretched their lead to two but the Huskies weren't long in getting on the board, as Shawn Chapman tallied at 8:05, assisted by Don Manary and Brian Lloyd.

At 12:24 of the period, with Mike Scheffee sitting out a high sticking infraction the Huskies evened the score on a shorthanded goal. Darin MacInnis got the marker, assisted by Dave Nichols and Chris Hodgson. Less than a minute later, at 13:13, the Huskies moved out in front off the stick of Ron Yake, assisted by Mark Bowman. There was no further scoring in the period.

In the second period, Haliburton again came up with a shorthanded goal, this one at 8:44 off the stick of Chapman, assisted by Brian Lloyd and Kevin O'Hara, to move out in front 4-2.

But Penetang fought back for the rest of the period, narrowing the gap to one at 14:33 with Brian Lloyd off for slashing, and tying the score at 15:14.

Early in the third period, the Huskies jumped out in front as Yake got his second of the night at 37 seconds, assisted by Mike Scheffee. At 3:56, Chris Hodgson tallied for the first of three he was to score in the period, assisted by Dave Nichols, and the Huskies had what looked like a reasonably comfortable lead. They had little time to relax however, as Penetang cut the lead to one with a passing effort at 4:45.

The Huskies again widened their lead to two at 6:02 when Hodgson got his second, assisted by Nichols and Craig Wood, but Penetang came back to trail by one on a power play goal at 7:25 while Scheffee was off for tripping.

At 11:17, the Huskies replied to stretch their lead to two once more, this time off the stick of MacInnis, assisted by Hodgson and Nichols.

At 14:36 Hodgson got the hat trick, assisted by Nichols and the Huskies were in front by three. Penetang then pressed the attack, tallying at 18:42 and 19:38. But they ran out of time and the Huskies squeaked by to win the contest 9-8.

Leading scorer on the Huskies is Chris Hodgson, with 11 points, followed by Ed Roberts with 8 points, Dave Nichols and Ron Yake with 7 each, Mike Scheffee and Mike Rae with 5 each, Don Manary and Kevin O'Hara with 3 each, and Brian Lloyd, Darin MacInnis and Gary Harrison with 2 each.

The Huskies will travel to Bracebridge Friday and will be at home against Oro Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m.

Here comes the judge: Dean Elliott, J.P.

Justices of the peace, or judges for that matter, have often been stereotyped as gruff old men who hand down verdicts of guilty with glee. But Dean Elliott doesn't seem to fit that image. In fact, he seems too pleasant and down-to-earth to be the traditionally stern justice of the peace we all imagine.

Instead, he appears to have an honest-to-goodness concern for those defendants who enter his court. Elliott is a justice of the peace for Ontario and holds provincial offences court once a month in Minden. He also accepts pleas of guilty for minor offences once a week.

Since beginning his job in 1974, Elliott has handled summary conviction hearings (offences under the Highway Traffic Act, for example) with the age-old pleas of guilty or not guilty. That

"It's really a good system"

changed in April, however, when the new minor offences act was brought into use.

While it has created a few more hours of work for Elliott, this new act seems to have lessened the loads of minor offences in the courts.

To the layman the simplified minor offences act may appear to have entirely changed the judicial process, but in fact, according to Elliott, it remains basically the same.

"It has and it hasn't (changed the judicial process)," Elliott said Thursday in his small courtroom office in the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal offices.

While the basic courtroom proceeding for pleas of not guilty remain the same as summary conviction offence hearings, defendants now have two other alternatives after they have been charged with an offence.

Instead of pleading not guilty to a charge, the defendant can now ignore the offence notice and if he hasn't contacted the court office within 15 days a conviction will be handed down in his absence. This will make it more convenient for defendants who feel they are guilty as they will not have to take time away from work to attend court.

The other option is to plead guilty in front of Elliott and give an explanation concerning the punishment. Although he cannot reduce the charge, he can reduce the fine or allow more time to pay it.

When a defendant comes into his office to plead guilty with an explanation, no one else is present. Elliott is dressed in his traditional robe with a tape recorder at his fingertips to record the proceedings.

"It's conceivable that it (a fine) could be reduced as low as a dollar," but not likely, Elliott said.

The new act seems to treat defendants more fairly with the value of their time taken into consideration as well as their personal finances and their ability to pay fines.

"It's (the new minor offences act) devised to clear the backlog of minor offences...It's really a good system," Elliott says.

Although it is hard to get used to the paperwork involved in any new system, Elliott said he feels it will work extremely well when all parties are familiar with the procedures.

One of the nicest aspects of the new act is people are not longer referred to as "the accused" but rather as "the defendant". This reflects what Elliott says about the act taking the criminal implications away from the minor offences, which are not criminal but more regulatory in nature.

"It's an exceptionally well written act," designed for the convenience of the defendant, Elliott said.

Although Elliott's small office does not sport the traditional flags which adorn most court rooms, the plea of guilty proceedings are quite official, even if they are not pretentious.

"It's an informal thing," Elliott explains. Defendants are allowed to bring lawyers with them into plea of guilty proceedings but none have ever attended Elliott's session although they are quite common in provincial court.

This new act simplifies most court proceedings as well, since police officers do not have to attend unless their cases are to be heard and appointments are now being arranged so defendants and policemen do not have to waste an entire day sitting in the courtroom. Elliott said the court is at least trying to narrow it down that a case will be heard either in the morning or the afternoon.

"It's a saving to the taxpayers," Elliott explained.

Before becoming a justice of the peace, Elliott worked as an OPP officer for six years in both Lindsay and Minden. Although he was away from the law business for a few years, Elliott said very little has changed except for an increase in fines.

"Inflation has hit the fine market as well
everything else"

"Inflation has hit the fine market as well as everything else," Elliott laughed. He said when he was on the force an offender would have to pay about a dollar a mile over the limit but now a 30 mile an hour over the limit charge would cost about $135.

Elliott has the right to hand out fines to offenders of the Highway Traffic Act, and Game and Fish Act, the Liquor Licensing Act, the Snow Vehicles Act and the Compulsory Automobile Insurance Act. Since he has the right to act on these matters, Elliott has the top direction or responsibility which can be given to a justice of the peace in Ontario. This allows him to preside over provincial courts and also to act on certain federal matters.

Elliott has other responsibilities to the crown besides handling court. He is also responsible for issuing search warrants to the police department, a job which he does not look highly on.

He is blunt about search warrants. "I just hate them," he said. Elliott feels very strongly about someone entering another person's house without sufficient evidence.

When a police officer approaches him, asking for a warrant, Elliott makes sure that the items the police are searching for will stand up in court as important evidence.

"No fishing trips allowed," Elliott said. Although there might not be a great demand for search warrants in the area, Elliott feels one a year is too many.

"Your home is your castle," he said.

When he does issue a warrant Elliott would like to see the search carried out immediately and the warrant "has to be restricted and strictly restricted, that's my opinion."

And it is this opinion which seems to weave its way into most of the decisions Elliott makes about his work. He regards it as important to make the right decisions.

When justices of the peace make wrong decisions it is not a disaster but when they blatantly misuse their power, their world can tumble down around them. Elliott said a justice of the peace caught misusing his power would be quickly stripped of his powers and might even be criminally prosecuted.

The commission of justice of the peace which is given to an individual at the pleasure of the crown "would go very, very fast," Elliott said.

But Elliott feels all problems can be avoided by using common-sense and a bit of discretion aided by a general knowledge of law.

Elliott says he enjoys his duties of justice of the peace more than acting as a police officer.

As well as acting on his common-sense, he must also keep abreast of new legislation which is

Extendicare News by Dr. W. O. Anderson

One aspect of this constitutional and charter debate seems to interest more than the others and that is the interrelationship between Newfoundland and Quebec, and between Newfoundland and a relatively new province and Canada. During the televised part of the recent prime minister and premiers conference that seemed to throw the prime minister for a loop and convinced him to go it alone. Just as in the game of bridge in which a player must have pretty high cards, we got the impression that premier Brian Peckford of Newfoundland was pretty well a loner, needing much for his people and having not too much to get it in a trade-off. It is pretty sure he has an offshore oil field but whether it is negotiable he does not know and none of the others, having their own axes to grind, could help him. He entered his office knowing that though Joey Smallwood did his best he could get none but a confiscatory deal with Quebec to get the 8 million Upper Churchill horsepower even to any other market but Quebec and all at this conference knew this and knew pretty well what to expect for themselves and could only stay mum on the subject. Besides this affront, which we think we can call it, Premier Peckford is fully aware of the economic warfare on the Quebec-Labrador boundary, which knowledge no doubt was behind the premier's seemingly selfish practices when it came to the labor required for the Hibernia development. It would seem that Newfoundland has many strikes against her.

As for remedy, Brinco should undertake to retrieve the disastrous deal with Hydro Quebec and while that is pending which may be long, a grand causeway should cross the Belle Isle strait providing a wide ship passage, over which Labrador power could be transmitted to Newfoundland where from Port Au Basque it has a ready market for anyone wanting it. Probably much will be needed in Labrador and Newfoundland, for the new industries that will be attracted. The world now has urgent need for water and what better place to get it than Labrador instead of what Saudi Arabia was planning to undertake - tow an iceberg from Antarctica. Many countries are forced into desalination, re-

He was the son of the late John James Gostlin and Effie Sarah Cameron.

Born and raised in Laxton Township, he received his education at Beech Lake School. On May 22, 1948 he married Helen Ball of Minden. He farmed and drove school bus for over 20 years. He also made maple syrup.

In 1957 he built and operated "Al's Sport Shop" on Cockburn Street in Norland. In 1960 the sporting business was relocated to Queen Street and operated as a family business until 1974.

In 1958 he started hauling gravel. In 1964 he bought a gravel pit and operated "A. Gostlin and Son, Sand and Gravel". In 1970 he built a lumberyard on this property which was known as Norland Discount Building Supplies. He moved from the farm in 1974 onto the building supply property. He was remarried to Violet Jewell on October 15, 1977.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters and one son, Wanda (Mrs. Florian Landry), Roger, and Juanita (Mrs. Brad Watson) and seven grandchildren, all of Norland.

Other surviving relatives are one brother, Raymond of Norland, and two sisters, Jean (Mrs. Stan Stewart) of Lindsay and Lillian (Mrs. Fred Bailey) of Norland. He was predeceased by two brothers, Garfield and Lorne, and one sister, Effie Ora.

The funeral service was held on Monday, September 15, at 2:00 p.m. from the Gordon Monk Funeral Chapel, Rev. E. Joblin presiding with interment at Pine Grove Cemetery, Norland.

Pallbearers were Aubrey and Laverne Gostlin, John Stewart, Bob and Wayne Bailey, and Jerry Bartley, all nephews of the deceased.

The weavers and spinners group from the Guild of Fine Arts held their first "Wearable Weaving" fashion at the Rail's End Gallery last Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Models, wearing mainly their own creations, displayed vests, ponchos, evening skirts, tailored suits and sweaters made from home-spun wool. The models also wore complimentary pieces of locally made gold and silver jewellery. Judy Chapman models a jacket.

Last week the weather was beautiful and many residents took advantage of it by going out on Tuesday and Friday afternoon on the bus. At this time of the year, the countryside is a sight to behold with the changing colours. Tuesday morning we enjoyed an inspiring message from Jimmy Cooper at the chapel service. Later in the evening, it was a pleasure to welcome Earl Cooper and Kathleen Owens to play some toe-tapping music for us. Thursday afternoon, the ladies of Boshkung served a lovely variety of tea breads and muffins for the tea party.

This week, we had our regular activities beginning with fun and fitness on Monday morning. In the afternoon, the ladies went to the craft room to work on their projects in preparation for the Christmas bazaar on November 19. I'd like to welcome Mrs. May Powell of Ingoldsby to our group of craft volunteers.

Tuesday morning, Mr. Bob MacBrien held service in the chapel. We certainly enjoyed

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

I have just finished a most interesting book called "Voice of the Pioneer", written by Bill McNeil. This book is stories told by the people of Canada and there are tales of the immigrants who settled in Canada. These countries include Finland, Italy, Ireland, Scotland, England, France, Germany, Poland, as well as many others and don't forget the Indians. None of these people thought of themselves as pioneers. They came to Canada for many reasons, adventure, freedom and many other reasons but all of them helped to make our Canada today regardless of race, colour or creed.

Hearing some of the comments from people I wonder how many have studied the past history of this great country and realize just how many nationalities are combined in the pioneers of Canada.

I only found one fault with the book and that was that Bill McNeil said the poem at the end was from historic Covenantor's Church in Grant Pre, New Brunswick. That isn't right for the Covenantor's Church is at Grand Pre, Nova Scotia. I know for I've been there and really loved that church.

Anyway, do read the book for I'm sure you will enjoy it as I did.

This coming weekend is when our clocks fall back one hour. So don't forget when you go to bed Saturday night to turn the time back.

Mrs. Basil Hewitt was pleased to have her daughter Mrs. Colleen Bonspiel of Mississauga spend last week with her.

Gladys Schiefke from

B.C. also visited with her recently.

Winners at last week's mini card party were: cribbage - Lillian Davidson, Vera Ward. Euchre - lone hands and high - Harry Cowen, Della Griffin.

Mr. John Rockory is away on a visit to the east coast. St. Paul's Church Thrift Shop will be open this Friday, October 24 from 2 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. upstairs in the Parish Hall.

On Wednesday, October 15 the draw was made for the Lakewood airtight stove that tickets were sold on for the new curling club. The winner was Grenville Stamp of West Guilford. Congratulations Grenville. Thanks to all who bought tickets or donated money towards the new club.

The gas barbecue and tank draw has been postponed until spring but will be on display in the window of Stedmans store and tickets will be on sale throughout the winter. So if you bought a ticket already, don't throw it away, for it will still be good in the spring.

Worry is the interest paid by those who borrow trouble.

Moose hunting season is on this week and a number of the men are out trying to bag themselves some meat. Next week they will be home preparing for deer season, then they'll be gone again!

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Hughes and daughters of Mississauga spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hughes.

Wintario toques were won last week by - A.J. Hewitt at the Brown Owl; Helen Allore at Stedmans; Jeanne Sears at Mike's Milk; Harris Steele at Mae's; and Len Lonsberry at the Drug Store.

Etta Brentnell of Lindsay has been visiting friends in Minden recently.

Anyone who is interested in delivering or receiving "Meals on Wheels", please contact Jane Graham, 286-2024.

Prosperity is a great teacher; adversity is a greater. Possession pampers the mind; privation trains and strengthens it.

Dennis Stribling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stribling left on October 17 for C.F. Base, Cornwallis, N.S.

Chicken-Rice Supper - Serves 6 and takes about 1-1/4 hours to cook. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. 1/4 whole chicken breasts, halved; brown weel in large skillet over medium-high heat in 3 tbs. hot salad oil. Meantime sprinkle 1 (6 oz.) package herb rice evenly into greased 8" by 12" baking dish; pour 1 cup water over the rice; arranged chicken on top of rice; spoon 1 (10 3/4 oz.) can of chicken-vegetable soup, undiluted over the chicken. Cover the dish with foil and continue baking until chicken is fork tender.

Gerald Coulter of Toronto spent the weekend with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Angus Coulter.

Stedmans store in Minden has a new promotion going for those Wintario stubs you didn't win with - just drop them into the container at the front of the store and you could win a "Wintario" toque. These draws will continue for another 10 weeks. Also remaining stubs will be forwarded to radio station CKLY in Lindsay for a second draw.

Now I wish to make this clear. Wintario does not provide these toques free. The stores participating in this buy their own toques and then hold the draws, so you are really getting your toque free from the store not from Wintario.

There is to be a quilt competition and exhibition at Ralls' End Gallery in Haliburton from January 6 to 31, 1981. There are four categories: novice quilt; traditional design quilt; group quilt; and original design quilt. For more information contact 457-2330 or Ralls' End Gallery, P.O. Box 912, Haliburton, K0M 1S0 before December 31. You get your entry form from them also. This should be fun for you quilters and those who have always wanted to make a quilt but just never got around to it.

Minden Women's Institute held their regular meeting on October 15 at the United Church Hall. The president, Mrs. Clare Brown, opened the meeting and then Mrs. Mary Packard from Haliburton County Library showed two films. The first showed the beautiful scenery of New Zealand and the second, narrated by Charlotte Whitten, was about the old and new Ottawa (the old name was Col. By's Town).

When the roll was called it was answered by 21 members and the hostesses read the following poems: Mary Cox - the second mile; Rheta Brown - October; Bea Berry - A Friend; Jean Taylor - October; Maude Coulter - A Verse Clipper.

The spectacular colour of the leaves was short-lived this year and now they are fallen and lie brown underfoot. In this state though they make a valuable contribution to the compost heap. There is still much beauty to be seen in the yellow hues of the tamaracks. Always a welcome sight at this time of the year is the flight of the geese as they make their annual trek to the south. With thankful hearts we notice that Harry Clark offers the weary travellers sanctuary in his grain fields. It is commendable indeed that someone cares enough about these wild birds to protect them against their trigger happy enemies.

Soft ice conditions in the Monmouth arena last winter was a constant source of annoyance to the skaters. They will be happy to hear that this problem has been solved by changing the water supply. Lake water will now be piped into the arena. At the same time piping has been laid to carry water from the township's artesian well to the new veneer plant.

There is going to be a pot luck supper served in the Anglican Church basement October 29. To participate in this friendly get-together be there at 6 p.m. and bring along some tasty dish and a dessert. Enjoy the companionship of friends. Everyone is welcome.

Just in time for early Christmas shopping comes the news of the Monmouth Senior Citizen's bazaar. It is to be held at the Memorial Centre with doors open at 1 p.m. There will be a fine variety of hand-crafted articles on hand for your inspection.

At the Legion on Friday, October 24 there will be a turkey roll. Branch 624 welcomes you to this event.

On October 1, Ken and Nadeen Sanderson, daughter Dorothy and Mrs. Evelyn Lewis, sister of Nadeen, left on a motor trip to Newport, Nova Scotia. After battling the traffic through Montreal, they travelled via the Trans Canada route, stopping at points of interest, one of which was the Magnetic Hill in New Brunswick. Arriving Friday at 5:30 p.m. they stayed with Ken's sister Marion and her family on the farm. On Saturday at 3 o'clock they attended the wedding of their niece Marlene Lewis. Ken attended the bride up the aisle and she was given in wedlock to Mr. Titus Ford of Newfoundland. It was a very beautiful wedding held in the Glad Tidings Tabernacle in Windsor. The ceremony was a double ring and a candlelight service. The happy couple will be residing in Lethbridge, Alberta.

Returning from Nova Scotia via Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York State, the travellers report a fantastic trip with autumn at its best. While travelling one appreciates the facilities made available to the public, especially the cleanliness and atmosphere of friendliness.

Harcourt Chapel

Autumn is a very beautiful time of the year and a busy time as friends and relatives come to enjoy the beauty of our countryside. Churches in the area observed the traditional Thanksgiving services. Harcourt Chapel carried the Thanksgiving theme as four of our younger ladies brought a ministry in song.

The second part of the service was the presentation of Part 2 of a film series on the New Testament. We have much to be thankful for in this land that the bible is an open book and readily available.

his meaningful words. After lunch it was movie time in the auditorium. The Chautaugua Experience was filmed in South Western New York State. It is a place where families can get involved in a great many activities such as poetry, art, philosophy, physical exercise and music. It is a new world where you feel like you are in paradise. An afternoon in August was sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion. We saw the air cadets in training, and enjoyed the visit to the Little Britches Rodeo.

Tuesday evening was music night. Bill Payne and Eldon Deacon entertained us with some of the old favourites, and we had a few laughs, too.

Wednesday night, we were pleased to welcome the students from Haliburton high school for games night. Several residents enjoyed the evening playing euchre, cribbage, checkers, poker and crickinole.

Thursday afternoon, the L.O.B.A. from Haliburton brought a nice variety of sandwiches and cookies for the tea party. Thanks girls for a lovely time.

The week ended on a happy note with Grace Coburn leading the sing song. Mr. Fred Ballard accompanied us on the organ and played a medley of songs for our listening pleasure.

A lot of people in Ontario are saving energy right now. Join your neighbours and save some yourself.

DRAFT DEFENSE

A 1/4 inch crack along the bottom of a door can leak as much warmth as a hole in your wall the size of a baseball!

Caulking and weatherstripping to plug heat leaks are the best defenses going—because these measures save your valuable energy (and money) from heating the great Canadian outdoors. You can find out more in "Draft Defense", one of a series of brochures we've published to help you save energy.

While you're checking out those gaps in your draft defense, you might want to take a close look at how your home's insulation measures up for winter.

THE 'R' FACTOR IN KEEPING THE HEAT IN

There's no two ways about it—when it comes to saving energy and money in your home, there's nothing like properly installed insulation.

Check out the "R" factor of your home's present insulation, and proceed from there. You may even qualify for a CHIP grant that will help you carry the cost of insulating.

As you size up your home's insulation, don't forget to look at your furnace with an eye to making it more frugal with energy.

WAYS TO SAVE ENERGY UNDER YOUR ROOF

KEEPING THE HOT IN YOUR HOT WATER

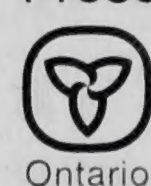

That steady "drip-drip" from a hot water tap is more than annoying. One drip per second can send 175 gallons of your hot water a year down the drain.

Fixing that dripping tap is usually simple. There are lots of ways you can cut back on energy waste with your hot water supply—insulate the tank and the first few feet of the hot water outlet pipe. Use your dishwasher only when full. And there are many more ways to save!

Find out about ways to save energy under your roof by sending the coupon below. You'll receive handy, informative brochures that will give you the lowdown on higher energy savings. Follow their advice and you'll be doing your part to make sure that Ontario's energy future keeps on looking good.

And remember—winter's coming!

Life is good, Ontario. Preserve it. Conserve it.

THE FRUGAL FURNACE

Regular maintenance and some very simple steps are all you need to make your furnace more energy efficient. Have your furnace checked and serviced once a year. Set the thermostat back a few degrees. Check your air filter once a month and replace as needed. Make sure heat registers aren't blocked by drapes or furniture—use deflectors when registers are under drapes. If you use electric heat, vacuum your baseboard heaters regularly.

There are a lot more helpful furnace tips you can find out about. But now, there are just a few words to be said about keeping yourself in hot water.

Yes! I'm interested in saving energy under my roof. Please send me the following brochures:
☐ Draft Defense
☐ The R Factor in Keeping the Heat In
☐ The Frugal Furnace
☐ Keeping the Hot in Your Hot Water

I'd also like information about saving energy in these other ways:
☐ The Cozy Renovation
☐ Buying a Home with Warmth in Mind

And for my car:
☐ The Drive to Save
☐ Extra Life Through Simple Upkeep
☐ Buying the Car that Guzzles Less

Send to: Ministry of Energy, GMS Box 37, Queen's Park, Toronto, Ontario M7A 2B7

The "B and N" take-out just west of town on Highway 48 is under new management, as of this past week. "Rocco", former owner of the Beacon restaurant at Kirkfield lift locks, along with his wife will now cater to those who make the "B and N" their favourite take-out eating place. Drop in and welcome the new management.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Powell journeyed to Sudbury last weekend to visit her brother, Johnny Smith who is very ill in a Sudbury hospital.

Carl Powell is home again though he will report back to Wellesley hospital in Toronto on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Marles and Lisa of Peterborough were visitors of Mrs. Annie Marles last weekend.

On Wednesday, a bus containing a number of Ladies Auxiliary members of the Canadian Legion journeyed to Kitchener and took in the Oktoberfest there. Kitchener was settled by German stock and I believe was the first area, in our part of the country, at least, to make Oktoberfest an annual event. The weather on Wednesday was beautiful and I'm sure the ladies will again look forward to a trip another year.

In case you did not know it, next Sunday is mother-in-law's day. For years, mother-in-laws have been portrayed as vicious creatures, something like the Hallowe'en witch. Really, 'taint so! Show your appreciation to your mother-in-law on her special day, next Sunday.

Once again, township and municipal election time is approaching. Consider your representatives' actions in your township and vote accordingly. I feel we should all be very concerned about how our tax money is being spent, and take an active part in community affairs if you have any time available at all.

"Uncle Roddy" Cameron celebrated his 83rd birthday recently and is still an avid walker and as much on the go now as when he was an employee at Wilberforce Veneer at Wilberforce. Few at his age, are as healthy.

Mrs. Helen Gierman of Whitby, visited Mrs. Cora Lake recently, and "hashed over" old times.

Most of the wild geese must have departed for warmer areas as I have not seen any this week. Robins are still with us now.

Imperial tobacco is again raising their price 2.6 cents on a pack of 20 next week. Aren't we non-smokers happy that that is one price increase that we are not the least concerned about affecting us!

Sadie and George Callan are busy moving to their Kirkfield home this week after spending some months in the Callan summer home here in town.

Mrs. A. Marles, Mrs. Myrtle Faulkner and Mr. Charlie Brohm, visited Alma Hunt in Fenelon Falls last week and her sister, Lily Penrose of Thousand Palms, California. The cousins enjoyed a good visit before Lily leaves for home this week after spending the summer with Alma Hunt in Fenelon Falls.

How fast the softball season passes, and now the kids are fervently into hockey. The leaves have really fallen this week, again replenishing the earth with nature's minerals and offering a cover for smaller plants who will greet us again, come the warm days of April.

We journeyed to Stroud for dinner with some of the family last Sunday and enjoyed the beauty of the colored leaves.

The annual conference of the Apostolic church was held at Faith Tabernacle last week with a wide representation of ministers from our area and the west.

Bible study at Faith Tabernacle on Wednesday nights has been on the book of Revelation. Rev. Winston Cross of Shiloh Christian Centre is teaching on the Wednesday nights and in view of war in the eastern countries, Revelation is a good portion of scripture to study and learn just how this unrest in Iran, Iraq, etc. affects us all.

Farm News and Views

Disease can be a costly problem in swine barns. It can quickly eliminate any possibility of making a profit. There are a number of ways to reduce the risk of disease.

The simplest is to work toward a closed herd. With a closed herd outside animals are not introduced into the herd. For sow operators this action can create more problems. How can the operator introduce new breeding lines into his herd?

One answer is through the use of artificial insemination or A.I. A.I. is not a new concept in livestock breeding. It has been used successfully in beef and dairy cattle for at least twenty-five years. However, A.I. is relatively new to the swine industry. Unlike the cattle program, the swine insemination is done by the operator.

The Ontario Swine A.I. Association operates out of Woodstock. Fresh or frozen semen is sent by bus or purulator to its destination upon request. Shipment is normally received within a day's time.

Anyone interested in using A.I. in their herd must take a one-day course. This course is offered at various points in Ontario. The course explains the proper insemination technique and how to handle and store semen on the farm.

Yorkshire, Landrace, Hampshire, Duroc and La-combe boars are available.

Information on the boars is provided. This includes backfat thickness, number of days to 200 lbs., the boars average daily gain on test and a performance index.

The average fee is $12 per insemination.

Boar catalogues are available upon request. It has photos of all the boars available with a verbal description and production information.

A.I. in swine has a number of advantages. Genetically superior boars are available to the average herd. It can be used to introduce new bloodlines. It provides a choice of breeds for a cross-breeding program. An A.I. program can be a big step in the control of disease in the herd.

For a successful program the inseminator must be well trained. He must carefully follow recommended technique. Proper storage is essential.

A.I. may not be the answer for all sow operators. However, with high production costs it should be strongly considered.

third week. They meet at 6:30 Tuesday evenings in the Chapel until 8 o'clock for a time of crafts, games and bible stories. This programme is having a very fine response in the area under capable leadership.

The Young People's group is again active Friday evenings providing a well balanced programme for all young people. The Young People themselves contribute much to this programme. The one-time monthly Youth Rendez-vous which provided an active competition among different groups in the county is greatly missed. The plaque bearing the crest of previous winners hangs in Harcourt Chapel waiting to be challenged. I am certain that we have young people in the county that could provide just as active a quiz team.

The east and west bible study groups continue to meet in homes Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. A welcome is extended to anyone who may wish to attend.

The Sunday evening service was very well attended with many visitors present. Special music was provided and the message was given by Brother Amos Brubacher. His message was based upon the depth of faith and personal convictions of the Apostle Stephen as brought out in Acts, chapters 6 and 7.

Next Sunday evening at 7:30 Brother Gary Martin of Bancroft will be bringing the message. A group of Young People will be with him to bring special music. A warm welcome awaits all who wish to attend.

Words of sympathy are extended to the George Holland family of Essonville on the passing away of Mr. Stanley Holland, a brother of George.

Also words of sympathy are extended to Mrs. Switzer of Tory Hill on the passing away of her husband Rueben.

The card convenor reported sending 42 cards since the September meeting.

The treasurer reported all bills paid and there were enough who took the bus trip to clear expenses. The quilt top donated by Mrs. Lily Hogg was shown to the members and it was decided to leave it until after Christmas to quilt. The W.I. will be serving tea at Hyland Crest on November 6. The members voted yes on the resolution to be presented at the area convention in November.

Final arrangements were made for the district tea, bazaar and bake sale in Fenelon Falls on November 22.

Lunch was served after the meeting. Adios and take care now.

Two former Haliburton County residents were among those present September 28 when Canada's Minister of National Defense, the honourable Gilles Lamontagne, laid a wreath at Commonwealth Cemetery, Casino, Italy. Colonel Neil Russell of Carnarvon, who is currently Canadian Forces Attaché in Rome, is at right, on the lower steps. Beside him is Lieutenant-Colonel Larry Mintz of Minden, who is Military Staff Officer to and Aide De Camp of the Honourable Lamontagne. The two men had not met prior to the ceremony. Kinmount Korner by Millie Moss

Last Friday, Ida and Clyde Pardy of Coboconk called for Mary L. and John Pyke of Norland and they made a very full day of it, travelling first to Sundridge and then on to North Bay. They enjoyed what leaf colour was left up that way, did a little shopping and visited with May Scott, a relative who lives in North Bay and is an employee of the Air Base there. You can imagine the surprise when she saw our family waiting for her outside in the car. She and Ida hadn't seen each other in 30 years and she had never met Clyde and of course, Mary L., who is my mom, was pleased to no end to see her niece once again. It was a spur of the moment decision to go - the very best kind - and the day was enjoyed immensely. They arrived home very late in the evening, tired but happy.

Rudy, Ruth and Derek Janke, Helen and Alex Graham drove to Toronto airport to see their relatives off to Ireland.

Judge Wilkins, his wife and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Cam Stuart, all of Toronto, were recent guests of Joyce and Jack Hills of RR1, Kinmount.

Thanksgiving service was held at St. James Anglican in Town on Sunday and the church never looked lovelier what with its new paint and the decoration of the season - fruits, vegetables, flowers and leaves. It was nice to see so many of our seasonal visitors at the service too.

While on the subject of church, I've been asked to mention the fact that St. John's Anglican Church at Ironside also held their Thanksgiving service in their beautifully decorated parish. I'm told the folks over that way go all out when it comes to doing things for their church. They recently built their new hall and although it's not fully completed yet, it's certainly ready for any social get-togethers they may plan and they are surely looking forward to the many future card games, etc., that will come up from time to time. Following their special service on Sunday they held a "Baptism" lunch for their new hall where everyone had a good look at their handiwork and enjoyed tea and cookies. Will it be call St. John's Hall or St. John's Parish Hall, perhaps?

Sorry to hear Mrs. (J.) Mary Graham is a patient in Red Cross Hospital. Get well very soon.

Mrs. Vi Cook who was hostess at a paint party held at the Legion recently, tells me it was quite interesting and a success.

Fred Cook, son of Violet Cook, his wife Donna and sons James and Jason were Sunday guests of Vi on Sunday.

Ida and Clyde Pardy, Coboconk, Helen and Alex Graham, Bill, Lorrie and Jason Moss, Norland, Bill and I all had a turkey dinner at the home of Mary L. and John Pyke on Sunday.

Hope your cold is better soon Win Wilson.

Bill and I spent a few hours in Peterborough on Tuesday. What a busy place. I had reason to visit a clinic there and you couldn't find a parking spot in the huge lot outside the building at one point. I met a Dr. Fagan there, who reminded me much of the doctors of days gone by. He was very friendly and to the point, willing to listen and also give his views without giving you that feeling of "you're only the patient, so what do you know?"

Congratulations to mom on her win of the Norland Fire-fighters hockey pool this week.

Thanks Rusty Faulkner for your kind words to me Through Bill.

Get well soon Gertie Crichton, we miss you at the bingos.

Hope to hear Lloyd Jordan will be home from Ross Memorial soon and on the mend.

If any of you would like a cute kitten give a call to 488-2526. They're free to a good home. I'm told there's a pretty black one and a grey.

Mrs. Dettman and Ida Young enjoyed a friendly visit on Tuesday evening.

Here's something for Hallowe'en shellouts: Peanut Butter Scrambles: 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup light corn syrup, 1/2 cup peanut butter, 3/4 cups Shreddies, 1 1/2 to 2 cups crisp rice cereal.

In a saucepan, combine sugar and corn syrup. Bring to a boil, stirring until sugar dissolves. Continue to cook for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in peanut butter, stir in cereals. Add more rice cereal if needed. When cool enough use buttered hands to form into small clusters.

Place on waxed paper and refrigerate until firm. Makes about 3 dozen scrambles. Wrap in plastic wrap for shelling out.

Lloyd and Maisie Brohm, Arn and Marie Rutter, are proud grandparents to Vanessa Louise, born Friday, October 10 at 10 a.m. Congratulations!

Ruby Schell of Kinmount enjoyed very much, her dinner with Bertha, Bill and Keith Stata on Sunday.

A few of our town people went with Father Brooks to the Burnt River fall supper, last Saturday evening and I'm told Nora Crego, Maggie

Do your homework before you do any work on your home.

Before you start on any home repairs or renovations, you should do some careful thinking. Decide exactly what you want done. Draw up an overall plan. And do a little digging around to find out all you can about potential contractors for your job.

A few precautions will eliminate some common problems:

- ✓ Don't be talked into having work done just because the rest of the neighbourhood is doing it or because the price is presented as bargain basement.
- ✓ If the project is a major one, seek professional advice (i.e. architects or engineers) before the work is started.
- ✓ Ask for estimates from at least three reliable firms.
- ✓ When you decide to sign a contract, find out first who does the actual work.
- ✓ Insist that all details be written into the estimate - the type and amount of work to be done, total cost, date of completion and any extras.
- ✓ If a large amount of money is involved, have a lawyer go over the contract before you sign it. Don't give more than 10 percent as a down payment.
- ✓ Never sign a completion certificate until the work has been done to your satisfaction.
- ✓ Hold back 15 percent of the final payment for 37 days after the work is completed. That way, if the contractor or subcontractor does not pay for materials, you are protected from liability under The Mechanics Lien Act.

Unfortunately, despite the most carefully laid plans, you may find yourself the victim of unethical business practices.

Your Provincial Government wants you to know what your rights are under the Consumer Protection and Business Practices Acts.

✓ The Consumer Protection Act allows you to cancel any contract signed in your home (where delivery, payment and performance of work remain to be completed) by sending a registered letter to the company within 48 hours - or two full working days - of signing.

✓ The Business Practices Act allows you to have the transaction cancelled by sending a registered letter to the company if you have been misled by false or deceptive consumer representations.

Kylie, Ruby Schell, Jim Simpson, Georgina Young, Ann and Mike Cain all enjoyed the evening very much.

Margaret Kylie and Ruby Schell of Kinmount attended the Deaneys at Cannington on Thursday evening at which four ministers were present.

On Sunday, Thanksgiving weekend Maggie Kylie, Bertha Stata and Ruby Schell attended the Irondale service and once again I'm told how very beautiful the church decorations were over there.

In the last issue of my column the St. James Kinmount annual turkey dinner was inadvertently slated for October 24. Please note the correct date is Saturday, October 25 at the Kinmount Legion.

I just had a call from Mary Phillips who would like you to know that there are still a few tickets available on the beautiful hand-made quilt so why not try for the winner when you come to the turkey dinner on Saturday, October 25? The draw will be made that day. Good luck! Tickets, by the way, are 50 cents each or three for $1.00.

Charlene and Stephen Fountain were guests of the Ambrose Watson's over the weekend and on Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tibbe of Toronto, former summer residents of Howland Junction visited.

Results of the seven tables of euchre played at St. Patrick's Hall last Tuesday were: Mary Phillips, ladies' high and our Mary also held most lone hands; Clara Watson was ladies' low; Ambrose Watson was men's high and Claude Crego, men's low.

Some of the local senior citizens went by cars last Thursday on a further sight-seeing trip of the leaves, visiting Bobcaygeon, Burleigh Falls, Apsley, stopping for lunch at Bancroft and heading home by way of Baptiste Lake to Wilberforce where they visited the skating arena and the Lloyd Watson Memorial Centre. Lloyd was a cousin to Ambrose Watson and I'm told the centre is a very impressive place with something doing every day. A lovely place to stop.

Recent visitors to the home of Bertha, Bill and Keith Stata were Mrs. Mae Hodgson, her sister Mrs. Ena McIntyre and her son and daughter, all of London, Ontario. They later visited with Cora Jackson.

A big welcome home to our neighbours, Joan and Ken Hyams who have been visiting relatives and friends in England over the past three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Leaky and Mr. George Robertson were weekend guests of Vi and Albert Crego of Kinmount.

Vi and Albert attended a granddaughter's wedding at York, Ontario recently.

'Til next time stay healthy, have a nice day. 488-2399.

The applause that echoed throughout the Gallery as the models made their way down the runway was the culmination of months of hard work by the Guild "Weavers and Spinners Group".

The actuality, the current show, as well as the two evenings of fashions, shown last Wednesday and Thursday at the Gallery began last spring with a clothing workshop conducted by Judy Chapman. The group then began organizing and through master weaver Dini Moes of Peterborough, an invitation was extended to weavers in Ontario and Quebec. The response proved excellent with 20 of the 50 pieces of clothing shown being other than Guild members work.

As an added attraction, as well as to compliment the weaving, jewellery makers Mike and Susan Mutz were invited to participate. Mike and Susan handcraft beautiful silver jewellery accented with precious stones. Also on display and worn by our models were pieces of jewellery crafted out of antler with silver and turquoise inlays by Mary Anne Johnston of Peterborough.

Our own Spinners and Weavers modeled their exquisite designs as well as those of our guest weavers. Jean Farrell modeled a wool "sherpa jacket", a white "put on" of cotton weave, brown wool vest. Marion Langdon wore a French wool vest, hand-spun wool sweater a cape of double weave in browns and white, reversible a woven velvet ribbon vest and a lovely skirt designed and woven by herself in golds and greens with tassels and macrame accents. Donna Van Der Wekken, her son Eric and daughters Penny and Lynn, all modeled clothes woven and knitted by their mother. Donna also modeled a suit of red wool and red suede, an outfit that brought a round of applause. Debbie Mansfield modeled a "Jinx" of Quebec, a wool jacket, a hand-spun wool sweater and a suit, fabric woven by Judy Chapman and tailored by Carole Finn for herself. Nancy Hubbert, another of our local weavers, modeled many of her own creations, a wool K Bee jacket. Tabard and top. Judy Chapman, an excellent weaver and teacher, modeled several of her own designs which included an evening skirt in border print in various shades of gold and rust on a brown background of raw silk and fine wools. A blue and gray vest of fine wools was one that the group itself participated in making. The wool was hand-spun, then dyed at the natural dye workshop held last year then woven by the group, an original and exquisite creation.

Vicky Cross and daughter Laura both modeled outfits created by Vicky. An unusual outfit was a vest woven from spun dog hairs (a family pet) and modeled by Laura. Vicky also wore a Tabard, wool vest and sherpa jacket. Sherpa jackets and Tabards are a favourite of all weavers as they are loom construal, meaning the piece itself is shaped on the loom then

"A skeptic is a person how, when he sees the handwriting on the wall, claims it is a forgery."

A group of about 35 had a gala time last week when they dropped in on Bas and Lorraine Weatherell to help them celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary. An old-fashioned shiverer had been planned and the Weatherells were completely surprised when a truck load of people, as well as several cars, arrived with all kinds of noise makers. After driving around the area with the couple, everyone assembled at their home where the party continued and delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Hazel Sears had a busy and happy time over the Thanksgiving weekend. To help celebrate the holiday she had her son, Billy, from Toronto; her daughter and husband, Norma and Harold Lovegrove from Hamilton; her granddaughter and husband, Brenda and Fred Scordino and their three children as well as grandchildren Mary, Angela, Andrew and Angus McKay.

The wedding is going to take place on November 1 of Feresa Eaton, granddaughter of Harry and Blanche Clayton of Dorset, and Art Bainbridge of Hillside. The service is at 7 p.m. at Hillside United Church. There will be a dance following the service at Fally-Ho recreation hall to which everyone is welcome.

The Anglican ladies had planned a rummage sale to be held before Halloween but due to the fact all of the evenings during that week were taken up by various social events it had to be postponed and will be held on Tuesday, November 4 at 7 p.m. in the Sunday School room of the church. Any rummage you have to donate will be welcome. Just call 766-2237 or any of the Anglican ladies.

Recent visitors in the village were Kathy and Bob Mudie of Waterloo. The Mudies lived at the Rauger School some years back where Bob was the chef. Bob is in charge of the food services at the University of Waterloo, a position he has held since he left this area.

Mrs. Dorothy McCallum of Orillia was a visitor in the village last week. She also lived at the ranger school some years ago.

The lake trout are spawning under the old Dorset bridge and on a sunny day it is a sight to behold, huge fish swimming around in the channel. There have been a lot of smallmouth bass caught off the docks and bridge recently, also.

H.H. This idea was given to me by a local lady who has tried it many times. If you get a stain from a ballpoint pen on clothing, spray it with hair spray, rub, and like magic it disappears. So when your husband leaves an unprotected pen in his shirt pocket, or when the kids get hold of one and mark up their clothes reach for the hair spray. It has other uses than keeping your curls in place.

A meeting was held in the fire hall on Saturday, October 11 to form a Glamorgan Ratepayers' Association. Forty-five people attended and an executive was chosen as follows: Chairman - Dallyn Pickens; Vice Chairman - Ron Mole; Secretary-treasurer - Fred Bjerring. Walter Franke and Jim Hunter completed the executive. Donations were made by those in attendance to enable the association to begin its work such as mailing out information. Speeches were heard from some candidates who declared themselves as standing for election in the up-coming municipal elections. The advance poll is November 1 while the regular poll is November 10.

quiring more energy than ocean transport. The tanks will be designed and built in Newfoundland out of the iron ore now being freighted to Sept Ile at bidders' prices, directed by skilled artisans imported from wherever the best can be got and moreover there will be ample power. Then there is tourism that in Labrador can have spectacular promotion. Imagine a view from an elevation in Labrador that the maps show are breasting the north Atlantic storms from the east snuggled up in a snug electrically heated bungalow facing into them through a picture window.

Canada liked quiet Newfoundland and her Labrador before she entered confederation so why not let her shape her own destiny or at least seriously listen to what her Premier Brian Peckford thinks she should have. She has great expectation unless Ottawa is allowed to mess it up.

June Devolin is back (cheers) and conducted bible study Wednesday morning based on ch. 4, Philippians. Paul and Timothy are exhorting the Philippians to consider all there is to praise and thank God for to justify a thanksgiving holiday, and so it is for us residents of Extendicare. June is planning her continuing winter program for us.

We find we skipped Tuesday and failed to report the bingo game. Allen Macklin called throughout with Greta Kellett the lone helper standing in as the director as well.

Wednesday noon several volunteer drivers provided transport for many of us to have another feature dinner at Locarno, a lovely resort on the north side of Lake Kashagawigamog. It was roast beef, potatoes, carrots with gravy topping, coffee or tea. This was followed by pie of several choices. The apple pie we had was delicious. Our drivers were Roy and Florence Parnell of Haliburton. Thank you all.

It was a very interesting item of news to learn that Pastor, the Rev. Mervin Kurtz of the Full Gospel Lighthouse in Haliburton is sponsoring an alternate school, the funding of which is not yet clear. This is a part of the current apostolic movement that is gaining much favour, a counter to the permissiveness that school boards are unable to properly deal with. It is a strong assumption that the agitation of the 'gays' to have equal status if equally difficult for many concerned parents to swallow.

There were three movies Thursday afternoon, - 1. Cook Islands, part of the New Zealand group, whose trade is in tropical produce, and more recently tourism. The natives are of the very large South Pacific people but have a government administered by New Zealand. 2. 'Fabulous Fishing' a fishing story that sort of tantalizes residents in a home, a sort of lure we cannot take. 3. Alexander McKenzie, showing his epic journey by canoe to the mouth of the McKenzie River, the first European to do so. This tale referred to 'native Canadians', some of whom were with him including a chief, and not as Indians. Alexander McKenzie was a great explorer, even though he was not a professional. He simply kept a journal of everything he did as a record for history. That is what made him famous. He was truly great. Pastor, the Rev. Rick Brewster, of the Allsaw Pentecostal Church was our spiritual leader for the devotional period Friday morning, accompanied by his wife Debbie, Margorie Rennick, pianist for the worship and Melissa Emerson, a member of Allsaw Church. Pastor Brewster's message was taken from Psalm 68, V6, a chapter of glorious praise to God for helping the righteous and destroying the ungodly. Many thanks to this cleric for ministering to us in this way.

folded in on itself and stitched together to form the finished piece. Pat Campbell, also an avid weaver, displayed two of her own creations called popovers as well as a hand-spun woven sweater. Many of the hand-spun sweaters in the show were spun and woven by Shirley Hodgson.

Barb Peel and daughter Susan modeled outfits woven and designed by Barb, a K Bee jacket and Tabard as well as a vest modeled by Susan.

Mary Walling, a dedicated weaver as well as potter, modeled an off-white cotton dress with blouson top woven and constructed by herself. It was a favourite of the crowd.

The highlight of the show were two evening dresses of silk chiffon in hand-painted French dyes by Jamie Carslake of Peterborough. Jamie also lent two quilted vests of French dyed silk with matching evening bag to compliment the outfits in the show. The two evening dresses were modeled by Catherine Denholm and Patti Bryden who I'm sure were the envy of the entire audience.

A show of this calibre takes a lot of hands and much hard work and now I would like you to meet those who made the two evenings of fashion as well as the show run like clockwork. A special thanks to: Taylor and Mrs. Wilkins for taking tickets at the door as well as cutting and painting the attractive props for the show.

Also responsible for painting the faces on as well as designing the props were Carole Finn, our Gallery curator, and Pat Irwin.

Wardrobe mistresses: Shirley Hodgson and Carolyn Bishop. Set-up: Cathy Staiton, Phyllis Bishop and Marilyn Burton. Make-up: Eileen Tunall, professional beauty consultant for "Mary Kay". Music: compliments of Jan Augusteijn and John Peel. Models: under the direction of Jean Farrell, Judy Chapman and Donna Van Der Wekken.

To top off the evening, lunch was served compliments of Dianne Arppe and the Weaving and Spinning Group. Commentator: Marie Wallace.

Acid rain to be theme at Trent University open house

Acid rain will form the theme of the annual science open house at Trent University on Friday, October 24.

The exhibition, open to all members of the public, will be held in the university's science complex (rooms 313 and 315) from 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Presentations will include a 20-minute slide and sound presentation on acid rain, which will be repeated through the day. There will also be a number of displays which will represent research work into acid rain performed at Trent and elsewhere. Through the displays and other presentations, it is hoped that the exhibition will answer questions individuals may have about acid rain, its causes and effects.

Secondary School, Tammy is continuing her education at Sir Sandford Fleming in Peterborough where her goal is a certificate in Early Childhood Education. We hope she is enjoying her course.

Shelley Hunter, another student of H.H.S.S., is now a receptionist at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto.

Sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Reuben Switzer who passed away at his home in Tory Hill. Funeral services were held in the Gooderham United Church on Friday. Surviving are his wife, the former Katie Riel, four sons and one daughter. The deceased lived for most of his married life just east of Gooderham on the old Monck Road.

Wilberforce Veneer and Lumber Co. Ltd. at Wilberforce. This, it was announced, is only phase 1 of a planned expansion program which involves 2 more substantial phases. To see our natural resources being utilized within the county, rather than being shipped to manufacturing plants outside in their raw state, is certainly a trend we hope continues. We will certainly do anything we can towards this end.

Also in Wilberforce we have new owners at the restaurant formerly known as "Legge's Place". It is now called Sprucewood Restaurant and is owned by Frank and Georgia Phillips who moved here from Toronto. They have made many improvements to the building, offer a menu of good home-cooked food and are open every day but Monday, from 7:30 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. We hope they do well and suggest you drop in and let them know they're welcome.

Somewhat south of there, just off the Dyno Road is The Homestead Tent and Trailer Park which has been operated for quite some time by Ross and Marge Lawrence. Business has taken Ross to other parts of the country and the park has now been sold to Jack and Norma Ramsey who took over this past summer. They come from the Orillia area and we certainly welcome them to our business community.

Near Dorset is a unique log building on a beautiful lot which hugs the banks of the Hollow River. It operates as the "Hollow Valley Lodge and Tavern" and has recently been purchased by Kel Stone and Bill Craig who have some very ambitious plans underway. They plan to establish a trailer park, motel and cottage resort which will make full use of the substantial property. Much of the work is now underway and we are sure they would be most pleased to see some of their neighbours drop in and say hello.

The Nordic Inn at Dorset is also expanding this year with more accommodation and a lounge to complement their lovely licenced diningroom. The Nordic has a unique feature of flood-lit cross country trails for night skiing.

Further north, on Highway #60, on the way into the park, White Birch has been recently rebuilt following their disastrous fire just over a year ago and also has new owners. Gerry and Teresa Prenger and their family have cozy cottages and rooms open year round on the shores of Oxtongue Lake and are looking forward to meeting more of their new neighbours.

In Haliburton Village Pyramid T.V., owned by Peter Schellenberg, took over the retail Record and T.V. store in the mini-plaza. Peter's brother David is now managing the store and the residents can now deal in confidence with an establishment that can provide not only quality merchandise but expert service as well. If you haven't already done so, drop in and meet David.

It is not confirmed that Chateau Woodland has been sold although we have yet to meet the new owners ourselves. We look forward to meeting them shortly and reporting further on their future plans. Mrs. Salter has built a new home nearby and we certainly wish her good health and happiness in her well-earned retirement.

In Minden work is now underway on the new home of Highland Plumbing, who in turn operate the Homestead Plumbing Supply franchise here. They will be moving from their present location on main street to their new quarters next to Dollo's I.G.A. as soon as the new building is complete. Speaking of building we have a new building contractor in Minden now operating under the name of C.B. Construction, and it is owned and operated by Bob Hepplestone and Chris Miles. They tell us they are off to a very busy start and indications are they will be kept quite busy.

Craig Box tells us he can't believe how busy he has been since opening the doors for business last month at Minden Custom Upholstery. Craig and his partner and brother Derrick grew up in the upholstery business, under the guidance of their father who operated a successful shop in East Toronto for many years. Their new shop is located across from the Brewers Retail and adjacent to Highlands Jewellery and China and they plan on carrying a full line of do-it-yourself materials in this location as well. Our best wishes for success go to all of these ambitious young people.

always being passed in parliament. New legislation is supplied to him by the Attorney-General's office along with the law books he needs for the acts which he is responsible for.

"You just can't sit in court without your books," he said.

If, the improbable happened and Elliott was not completely sure of a section of an act he would be passing a judgement on, he would call a recess "to make sure my interpretation was correct," he said.

When Elliott made sure of the act he would then hand down his verdict, confident he had performed his duty well.

If Elliott is as good natured and fair on the bench as he appears to be in the familiar surroundings of his office, defendants will have little to fear. He is not gruff old man, ready to smile with glee if he hands down a guilty verdict.

Of course, this is not the first time that a review of Children's Aid Societies has resulted in poor reports. In the late 1960's, a task force set up by the Ministry of Community and Social Services concluded that red tape was interfering with the efficiency of the agencies.

All nine of the agencies reviewed to date have implemented at least some of the recommendations made in the investigators' report. Among recommendations were the following: (a) assessment records should detail the services children receive, so that the agency can see clearly the progress which has been made; (b) management training should be provided for front-line workers who have trouble making the transition to administrative jobs; (c) there should be more contact with other community agencies involved with a child in society care.

I would be pleased to hear from any of my constituents about the topics which I raise from week to week.

Five people charged

Five people have been charged with break, enter and theft after nine break-ins were investigated in the last month.

The most recent break-ins which took place in the past week were at Sawyer's Barber Shop, Bob Bishop Real Estate, Dr. K. Hadley's office and Haliburton Hairdressing, in Haliburton village.

The businesses were broken into early Friday morning and approximately $1,700 in cash and cheques were stolen.

Charged are Drayton Bon-yun, 17 of Haliburton, and Charles Pirtelli, 17 of Peterborough. Both were charged with four counts of break, enter and theft, breach of probation and one of the pair has been charged with possession of stolen property.

On Thanksgiving weekend the barber shop and the hairdressing salon were also broken into but there is apparently no connection, according to the police.

A Haliburton man has been charged with break, enter and theft after a break-in into Cauldron Pharmacy on October 5 in Haliburton village. Charged is Gunter Franke, 28.

Approximately $1,700, worth of the $2,000 of property stolen has been recovered by police.

Two juveniles have been charged as the result of an investigation into two cottage break-ins in September.

The cottages on Wolf Lake, owned by P. Stewart of Oakville and C. Hughson of London, were entered and approximately $70 of property was stolen. The property was recovered except for approximately $20 of liquor.

The two juveniles are from Oakville.
